Supports Men In Deer Dispute DEC Chief Gives His Version

By Jon Powers

NEW PALTZ

Personnel at the DEC's Region III office in New Paltz have settled in for a long siege. Since Feline the deer died one week ago today, the department has been flooded with irate letters, telegrams and phone calls; conservation officers have been labeled incompetents and likened to "Nazis"; their own commissioner, in the opinion of some, has stabbed them in the back. And the furor shows no signs of subsiding.

But the people at Region III headquarters aren't taking the criticisms lightly. In fact, they believe more strongly than ever that a delicate situation was handled with discretion and compassion.

"It is unfortunate that the deer died," said Fred Ford, chief of the Region III's Bureau of Wildlife, "but I don't blame any of my people. They did what they had to do and they acted correctly."

That conservation officers were required to enforce the law when they seized the deer last week was emphasized during a recent two-hour interview with Ford, and other members of the department. The Environmental Conservation Law, said Ford, clearly states that the officers do not have the discretionary power to negotiate out-of-court settlements, or to make private arrangements, with alleged lawbreakers; to do so would subject the officers themselves to disciplinary action or criminal charges.

"A law enforcement officer has no option but to enforce the law," said Ford, "and enforcement cannot be delayed."

That Jack LaFalce was in violation of the law when he took possession of the deer 11-months ago, without notifying the department, has already been established. Ford, however, used the opportunity to explain the intent of the law.

"It is designed to protect the good samaritan who finds wildlife in distress," he commented, "but it is also designed to protect wildlife from good samaritans. The LaFalces were well-intentioned, but misdirected."

'We Know Our Job'

Ford pointed out that wild animals are susceptible to a variety of diseases — leptospirosis is one, he said, which cannot be detected if it is in the gestation stage — that are highly contagious, and pose significant danger to both humans and domestic animals. It is for that reason, said Ford, that the law requires captured wildlife to be immediately examined by a veterinarian.

"People have said how healthy the LaFalce deer looked," Ford added, "but you often can't tell if an animal is sick just by looking at it. The autopsy revealed that the LaFalce deer was in a normal condition, but you can never be sure."

A number of unanswered questions have persisted since the deer was seized, tranquilized and then died last Wednesday. Ford addressed some of the lingering aspects of the controversy:

• On the DEC's decision to tranquilize the deer: "We have transported numerous deer without having to use a tranquilizer. We try to avoid it whenever we can, because there is always a calculated risk involved. But with all the people, and all the noise, and the dogs running into the pen, the deer was becoming more and more excited. It was in such a state that it could have injured itself or somebody else when the men tried to put it in the box. For everyone's safety, it had to be tranquilized. But even afterwards, the people wouldn't let it calm down. There was no reason why LaFalce had to have all those people there. It just made matters worse."

• On the likelihood that the deer had been abandoned by its mother: "Each animal handles its young differently. The mother instinct has been well-defined for hundreds of generations. Probably the best thing the mother could have done was to stay away from the fawn, so she wouldn't attract attention to it. There is no way you can tell during daylight, or even during the same day, whether a mother has abandoned her baby."

A press release issued by the DEC last year, which concerns precisely this point, supports Ford's contention that the fawn may have survived without LaFalce's help. It states:

"During their first crucial days the doe hides her fawn in an area where low vegetation, such as grass or ferns, will give it all the protection it needs. However, she remains nearby on watch, prepared to come to its aid or to decoy danger away. . . . In spite of Mother Nature's methods of protecting her young, many are going to be found by well-meaning people who think that they have come upon little orphans that will not survive without their help. In most cases, their 'help' only guarantees the youngster's demise."

• Ford also commented on the prospect of the deer's survival in a game management area: "I know of at least one case where the deer reverted to the wild. But survival is not really the issue. Wild animals should not be caged. Survival and a full, free life are two entirely different matters."

• On the DEC's refusal to allow the Catskill Game Farm to take the deer: "It's illegal," said a department spokesman, "a private commercial enterprise can only possess animals that are born and bred in captivity. Without the law, you'd see people running through the woods gathering up fawns, raccoons and bear cubs and trying to sell them to game farms."

RED CREEK, N.Y. (UPI) — An Environmental Conservation Department officer "humanely destroyed" a deer after taking it from a Wayne County farm family, it was disclosed this week.

The deer, called Bambi, was killed last Friday after being taken from the 257-acre farm of the Daniel Markowski family by the officer, Carlton Gay.

It occurred two days after a similar, highly publicized incident in the New Paltz area of the Hudson Valley.

Ogden Reid, environmental conservation commissioner, apologized at the time for the death of the New Paltz deer, saying state regulations designed to protect wildlife should not result in the opposite effect.

Markowski said he found his deer last month while plowing a field. He said the animal was lying on the ground, weak and unable to stand. He said he took it home where his four children helped care for it and nurse it back to health.

When friends told him he needed a permit to keep the animal, Markowski said, he contacted the conservation officer, who came to the farm. He said Gay told him a permit was not possible and he would try to arrange to place the deer in a game refuge, and he believed Gay was taking it to such a place when he removed it from the farm.

Markowski said he helped Gay put the deer in a bag for the trip. But, after reading about the earlier deer incident, he finally talked to EnCon officials in Albany Monday in an effort to get the deer back. He said he was told then by Deputy Commissioner Paul Elston that the deer had died, but not that it had been killed by a conservation officer.

"You can get a permit to kill deer, but you can't get a permit to save them," Markowski said.

Robert L. McManus, director of communications for En Con, said Gay had "explored the possibility of relocating the deer" at Cornell University, the Howland Island State Game Refuge or the Montezuma National Wildlife Refuge. But, McManus added, "It was deemed impractical to take the deer to Howland or Montezuma."

And, he said, veterinarians at Cornell told Gay that they had a sufficient supply of deer and did not need more.

Gay "humanely destroyed it as the only humane thing to do," McManus said.

Wallace Sends The Message Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, ready for his fourth presidential campaign despite confinement to a wheelchair, came to Washington today to disclose his political plans for 1976.

Aides in Montgomery said Wallace, in a luncheon speech to a business group, intended to leave no doubts about his plans to run for president next year, but would not formally declare his candidacy for the Democratic nomination. Until now, Wallace has said he has not decided whether to seek the presidency again.

Six Democrats already have announced and are on the campaign trail. But the national public opinion polls show Wallace has more support for the nomination than Sens. Henry Jackson of Washington, Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona, former Govs. Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Terry Sanford of North Carolina and former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma. Georgia legislator Julian Bond said Tuesday he intends to seek the nomination.

The only Democrat who consistently runs ahead of Wallace in the polls has been Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, who has announced he will not seek the nomination and will not accept a draft. However, Kennedy's supporters believe he would change his mind if no other strong candidate emerged and the convention fell into deadlock.

Wallace, 55, is paralyzed below the waist as the result of gunshot wounds suffered while campaigning in Maryland in May, 1972. He campaigned from his wheelchair last year to win an unprecedented third term as governor and began stepping up pre-presidential campaign activity for 1976.

In 1974 and this year, Wallace and his organization have reported receiving contributions of more than $2 million and outlays of $1.96 million.

At the time he was shot, Wallace had received more votes in 1972 state presidential primaries than any other candidate and had shown strength outside the South by winning the Michigan primary. In 1968, as the candidate of the American Independent Party, he received nearly 10 million popular votes, 13.5 percent of the total, and 46 electoral votes in carrying five southern states.

The Wallace candidacy has provoked strong statements of opposition from a number of Democratic leaders. Several candidates, notably Udall, Sanford and Carter, have denounced the Alabamian as unacceptable for the nomination.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., and Gov. Wendell Anderson of Minnesota, immediate past chairman of the Democratic Governors Conference, have declared their opposition to Wallace.

Wallace's 1976 strategy was expected to lean heavily on winning delegates in presidential primaries. Because he is opposed by so many party regulars, he does not expect to make his best showing in the approximately 20 states that will choose convention delegates at their own caucuses and conventions.

Many party leaders and blacks cite Wallace's early reputation as a "surrender, hell" segregationist as the main reason for disqualifying him as a national Democratic standardbearer. His critics also challenge his record as governor of Alabama and accuse him of attacking national policies without offering his own detailed solutions.

Wallace denies ever opposing equal treatment of blacks, claiming his fight was against the courts and the Congress intruding into state affairs.

Prince Faisal Is Executed

BEIRUT (UPI) — Prince Faisal Bin Musaed was publicly beheaded in Riyadh today for the assassination three months ago of his uncle, King Faisal, witnesses in the Saudi Arabian capital said.

In a telephone call to Beirut, a Saudi newsman said the prince died before thousands of people gathered in front of Al Hokm Palace.

The crowd applauded the executioner who severed Faisal's head from his body, taking three strokes to complete the killing in order to increase the assassin's suffering.

Each time the sword rose and fell at one minute intervals, the crowd cheered, the newsman said.

The crowd hailed the late king when his nephew, who had been bound and blindfolded, lay dead.

The crowd was given 15 minutes to view the body before it was taken from the square in the same ambulance which had brought the 27-year-old prince to his death.

All motor traffic was diverted from the area, newsmen said, and authorities banned all photographers.

Riyadh Radio broadcast the news of Faisal's execution in its regular 5 p.m. (10 a.m. EDT) news bulletin. It said the execution was carried out at 4:30 p.m.

The prince shot his uncle to death on March 25 while the king was holding court on the birthday of the prophet Mohammed.

Riyadh Radio announced earlier that the Prince had been found guilty after a secret trial before the nation's high religious court.

Saudi law is based on the Moslem Holy Book, the Koran, which decides the fate of convicted criminals.

The usual form of execution for murder is death by beheading in a public square after midday prayers on Friday. There was no explanation for the change in the traditional day.

Enjoyed Skinny Dipping

NEW YORK (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy hosted nude swimming parties at the White House, according to the memoirs of a White House kennel keeper, but the unexpected arrival of his wife Jacqueline once panicked the party-goers.

Traphes Bryant, in his new book, "Dog Days at the White House," said President Kennedy "liked to swim nude and so did some of the girls who popped in to visit him."

Once, he said, Mrs. Kennedy returned to the executive mansion unexpectedly while several men and women were swimming nude in the pool.

Both the President and his brother Robert were there, Bryant said. When the alarm was sounded, all fled except the President, who stayed in the pool. Then the drinks and other "evidence" had to be cleared away.

Bryant said Mrs. Kennedy seemed to notice nothing amiss and soon left. To be on the safe side, Bryant said, the others stayed away from the pool for a while.

Another time when the elevator door opened on the second floor Bryant said he saw a naked girl running between the kitchen and the West Hall. "There was nothing to do but get out fast and push the basement buttons," he wrote.

JOHN F. KENNEDY

Bryant said President Lyndon Johnson did not like George Hamilton, the movie star, when he was dating Lynda Bird Johnson, and called him "George boy."

Once when Hamilton was coming through the White House gates, Bryant said Johnson muttered, "Christ, he looks like he was put together by the ladies' club committee."

Among the people President Nixon couldn't stand, Bryant said, was Martha Mitchell, once saying, "Keep her out of my hair."

Walking Tour Set Thursday

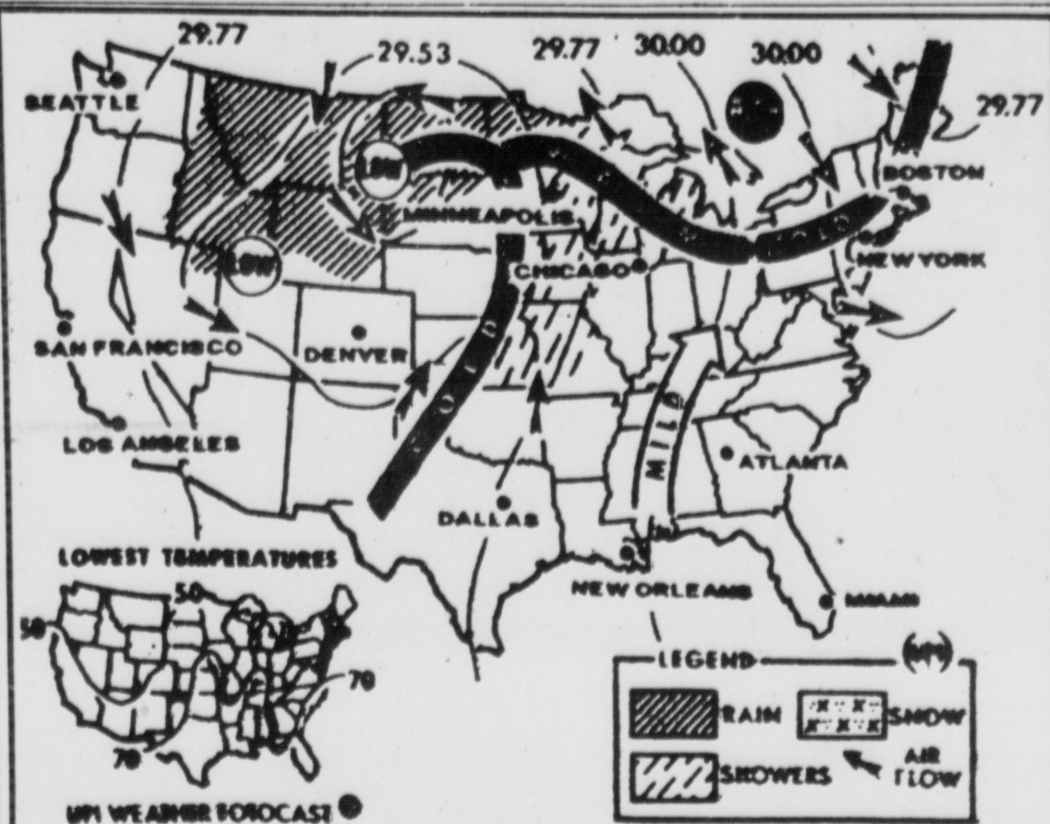

Friends of Historic Kingston have scheduled their next guided walking tour of the Stockade District for Thursday afternoon beginning at 2 p.m. from the lobby of the Gov. Clinton Hotel. Opening their home to the tour this month will be Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Thayer of 43 Crown Street who own the Matthew Jansen House. Shown here are Mrs. Paul Scogna (R) and Mrs. Jeffrey Fredenberg, in costume, during a tour of the Senate House. Mrs. Scogna and Mrs. Fredenberg are detailing the history of the 1676 national landmark on Clinton Avenue to a visitor while a young man enjoys some late spring sunshine. Tours can be arranged by contacting Mrs. Thomas Reynolds.

Confusion Over 'Fear City' Call-Off

NEW YORK (UPI) — The decision by the city's public safety unions to call off their "Fear City" campaign seems to be causing nearly as much controversy as their decision to put it on. The Council for Public Safety, made up of leaders of 26 municipal unions, Monday night suspended the drive for a "couple of days," indicating it had received a pledge from business community leaders to intercede on their behalf to avert the layoffs of 9,000 police and firemen in the city's "crisis" budget.

But, on Tuesday, Lewis Rudin, president of the Association for a Better New York, said no such pledge was made.

He said when his group met with the heads of the patrolmen's, firemen's and detective's unions last Thursday, "we...asked them to hold off the campaign" and discussed its pros and cons.

"Our organization always has and will discuss issues affecting New York, but we will never bend to threats or pressure tactics."

A number of reports have said the real reason for calling off the scare campaign was widespread opposition within union ranks.

But, the unions' group denied this in a statement issued Tuesday.

Stephen Crowley, president of the Detectives' Endowment Association and an executive director of the council, said "there has been only a temporary holding back of distribution of the pamphlet" — which is emblazoned with a shrouded skull and titled "Welcome to Fear City: A Survival Guide for Visitors to New York City."

Crowley said, "The council at their meeting last night agreed we would wait a few days to see if there is any response from members of the business community that we have held meetings with, and lacking any meaningful response, that we would once again effect mass distribution of the pamphlets."

"There was absolutely no discussion," said Crowley, "that hinted at resistance to our program by any member present or his rank and file."

Defense Opens the Hearing For Kingston Nursing Home

WHITE PLAINS — (UPI) — A hearing into possible license revocation of a Kingston nursing home began Tuesday with testimony from the home's president and attorney.

The Albany Avenue Nursing Home in Kingston is one of 62 such homes across the state charged last January with violations of the U.S. life-safety code.

The charges against the 33-bed facility mostly involved allegations that the building itself was unsafe because, contrary to current state standards, it was built of wood.

The charges also noted that hallways, doorways, laundry closets, the air-filtration equipment, room sizes and other such facilities did not meet current state requirements.

Helen Schmitt, president and sole stockholder of the nursing home, said patients pay between $180 and about $250 a week to stay in the home.

Earl M. Bucci, the nursing home's attorney, said in an opening statement that all residents of the home were there voluntarily and that the home did not receive Medicaid or Medicare money.

"We have the parents of many medical doctors at the home," Bucci said. He added that he felt the building regulations adopted for new nursing homes were being unfairly applied to older homes already in existence.

The hearing, held in the State Health Department's White Plains offices, was expected to continue over the next few weeks.

Ellenville Drainage

ELLENVILLE — The Ellenville Village Board, meeting briefly Monday night, authorized the expenditure of some $400 to rectify a problem with storm water drainage on Helen Street.

Complaints had been received from residents of the area concerning conditions during periods of heavy rain when existing drainage pipes failed to divert runoff from the higher elevations.

The program will involve the laying of larger drain pipe to handle heavy runoff waters. In other items taken up at the board meeting, it was announced that the village and Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. crews will be doing extensive trimming and removal of trees in a wide area of the village.

A Youth Commission block dance, originally scheduled to be held Saturday was changed to Friday. The dance will be held on the new Ann Street.

No action was taken by the board on a request for a street light on Brook Street. The request will, however, be studied by the board.

Another Proposal For NYC

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — New York's state senate is controlled by Republicans and New York City by Democrats. In the balance between the two is the city's budget — and time was running out.

New York City Mayor Abraham Beame wants taxing authority totaling about $460 million that would raise his proposed budget from "crisis" to simply "austerity," and save possibly thousands of city jobs.

But the latest offer by senate majority leader Warren Anderson, a Republican, adds up to less than half what Beame requested.

In a telephone conversation with Beame Tuesday night, Anderson also tied approval of $208 million in new taxing authority to Democratic backing of a $200 million aid to education package — giving the city $53 million but proportionately higher amounts to other areas.

Beame, who in less than 48 hours will find himself up against a deadline for approving the 1975-76 budget, called the Republican leader's offer "totally inadequate," according to a spokesman.

Beame needs the additional taxing power to close a $641 million gap between his "crisis" and "austerity" budgets.

Beame says the "crisis" budget — $11.89 billion — would force him to lay off 37,315 workers in addition to the 3,067 mandated under the "austerity" level, although there have been indications that the number of "live bodies" let go would be far fewer.

The city seemed to be unable to avoid payroll and services cutbacks if the Anderson package becomes the limit on state help.

The City Council has about $122 million in "nuisance taxing" authority still on the books. From a political standpoint, only about $78 million of this could be used because many of the taxes are considered so onerous as to virtually guarantee taxpayer wrath.

The Board of Estimate and City Council must approve a new budget by midnight Thursday.

Tornadoes Batter Midlands

Tornadoes dipped from purplish skies, battering houses and threatening horses and horse-lovers alike at a race track. Rains deluged a golf tournament. Hail built up to the size of baseballs and pummeled a mountain-fringe community.

From the Rockies eastward across the Midwest Tuesday, June weather was on a wild spree.

A 71-year-old Elkhart, Ind., woman was crushed to death by a storm-downed tree as she stood in the yard of her daughter's home at Stone Lake in northwest Indiana. A tornado touched down twice between Wheatfield and Valparaiso, Ind., east of Stone Lake, damaging houses a mile apart.

Another twister touched down near the Arlington Race Track in Chicago's suburban Arlington Heights about 35 minutes before the first race, toppling unattended horse trailers. The racing began as scheduled. There were no injuries to people or horses.

A tornado warning prompted officials to temporarily empty the press tent at the Medinah Country Club near Chicago, where drenching rains kept golfers preparing for the U.S. Open off practice greens most of the day.

Ohio was hit by three twisters.

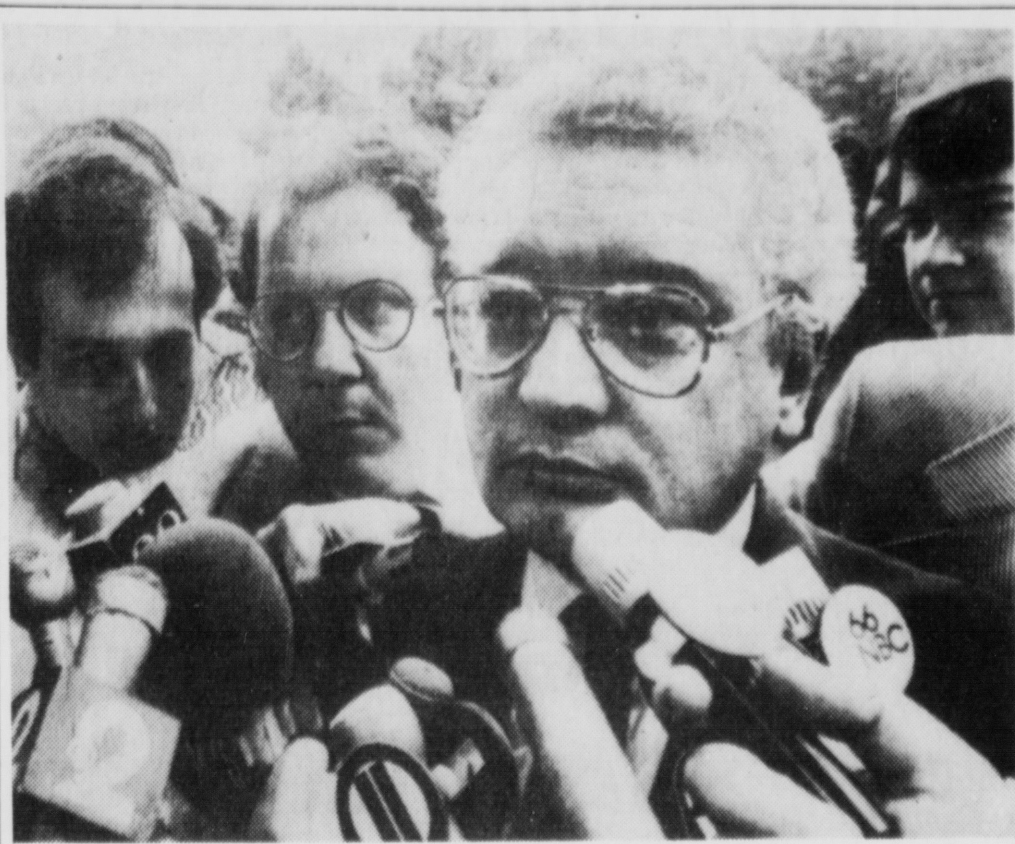

Some houses were damaged in the northeast portion of Grove City, Ohio, when a tornado dipped out of a thunderstorm that crossed the central portion of the state. No injuries were reported.

Other tornadoes were reported over Kingston and Circleville, Ohio, but caused no damage or injuries.

A morning storm, riding 70-mph winds, knocked out power to much of Faribault, Minn., flattened a few buildings, damaged trees and smashed windows.

The weather forced authorities to move a bicentennial event from a Faribault city park to a junior high school and Lt. Gov. Rudy Perpich, the featured speaker, had to deliver his address without lights or loudspeaker.

Gen Benway said he got his family out of their mobile home moments before it was "spun in the air two or three times" and demolished.

Murder Trial Continues

HAMILTON, Ohio (UPI) — Leonard Ruppert, one of 11 relatives James Ruppert is accused of killing Easter Sunday in the nation's largest mass slaying of one family, had more than $225,000 worth of life insurance, according to testimony.

The prosecution Tuesday solicited the testimony about Leonard Ruppert in its attempt to show the prospect of a large inheritance was brother James' motive for the killings.

Ruppert, 41, could face the electric chair if convicted. He has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

The trial went into its third day today. The prosecution said it would send six more witnesses to the stand before the defense begins its case.

Victims of the killings included Leonard Ruppert, his and James' mother, and Leonard's wife and eight children. They were shot to death March 30 at the Ruppert home, where they had gathered for Easter dinner.

According to testimony Tuesday, Leonard Ruppert had taken out large amounts of life insurance.

Gaylord Morris Jr., Leonard's boss at a General Electric plant in Cincinnati, testified Leonard had two insurance policies through the company — one for $62,400 and another that would pay $840 a month for 13 years, worth $130,040.

French Hookers May Attend Session

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The second annual prostitutes convention may take on an international flair. Striking French hookers may show up.

Officials of Coyote, the sponsoring group, said Tuesday negotiations were under way to obtain a free flight from Paris for the French prostitutes.

"We should know by Thursday whether they'll make it," a spokeswoman said.

She said at least three and possibly more French ladies of the night would make the trip to meet with their American sisters.

It was not known for sure, but one of the French girls may be "Ulla from Lyon," a leader of the protest there.

Coyote is an organization of prostitutes opposed to California laws against the world's oldest profession. The letters stand for "Call Off Your Old Tired Ethics."

The convention is set for Saturday, and local hookers were planning a demonstration supporting their French counterparts who say they are being harassed by police even though prostitution is legal.

Justice Dept. Is Doublecrossed Bilks Bank of $1.75 Million

CHICAGO (UPI) — The idea was to make its "reliable" informant appear wealthy. It backfired, and it may cost the government $1.75 million as a result.

Government sources said Tuesday the unidentified informant, working on a stolen securities case, bilked the Justice Department and the Continental Illinois National Bank out of that much money.

Bank officials said the government is liable for the losses. "The certificate of deposit was issued at the request of the U.S. government with their commitment and hence it is our expectation that the Continental Bank will not suffer a loss as a result of this incident," the bank said in a statement Tuesday.

Sources said the bank issued a certificate of deposit for $1.75 million to the informant in 1973 at the request of the Justice Department's strike force.

The certificate was obtained to make the informant appear wealthy so he could assist in an investigation of interstate sale of stolen securities, sources said.

Instead, the sources said, the informant used the money to buy property.

Although the bank received no money to back the certificate, it was assured by a strike force attorney the U.S. government would "cover any liability incurred," officials said.

A government investigator said the same informant had earlier recovered some $13 million in stolen securities for the government and provided information which led to the conviction of about a dozen persons.

But once given the certificate of deposit for the 1973 case, the informant turned confidence man.

Sources said he used the certificate of deposit as collateral to purchase property valued at $2 million in San Diego, Calif.

Early this year, sources said, he defaulted on the mortgage payments and the savings and loan company which issued the mortgage sought to redeem the certificate with Continental Illinois.

Strike force officials, who investigate organized crime, refused comment. U.S. Attorney James Thompson said any statement would have to come from the Justice Department's civil division in Washington, D.C. Thompson said he did not authorize the issuance of the certificate.

Strike force chief Peter F. Vaira refused comment because of the possibility of lawsuits. He said the incident occurred before he became head of the strike force.

Citizens' Leader Demands PSC Admit Nuclear Power Threat

ALBANY H. Lee Davis, president of Citizens to Preserve the Hudson Valley (CPHV), has called on the Public Service Commission (PSC) to "face up to the fact that nuclear power plants pose an unacceptable threat to this and every nation on the planet, and that we, the people, reject them."

Speaking before the PSC during its two days of public hearings recently on the long-range plans of the state's electric utility companies, Davis urged that continued nuclear development be abandoned and that research be devoted to alternative sources of energy, such as solar and wind.

In his statement to the commission, Davis emphasized what he considers the inherent dangers in the proliferation of nuclear facilities. "In 1945, nuclear fission created a monster, not only in the military sphere, but in the civilian sphere as well," said Davis. "Today, the nuclear fission trail could lead this nation and the world to the ultimate disaster — the destruction of the biosphere. Along the way, we will surely see economic chaos, social disorder and the breakdown of our capacity to reason rationally and morally."

Pointing out that a by-product of nuclear technology is plutonium — "a substance that remains deadly for thousands of years" — Davis commented, "We reject a technology that does not solve problems, but which rather creates problems of such monstrous proportions (that) no amount of industrial propaganda can disguise them."

"Americans are being asked to live with a technology that produces a lethal waste product... And yet, our President, the nuclear industry, and some misguided politicians feel that we must 'go nuclear' or go under. To 'go nuclear' is synonymous with going under. One pound of plutonium, if released, could cause as many as nine billion human lung cancers, or roughly three times the present world population. If we continue to proliferate nuclear power plants, by the year 2,000 about 600,000 pounds of plutonium annually will be coursing our highways, railroads and airways on the way from generating plants to reprocessing plants to those eternal resting places that are as yet undesigned and unidentified."

Davis continued, "The extraordinary problem of waste storage is only one of many unanswered problems surrounding the use of nuclear power plants. Despite this, we are still being told by the nuclear industry that only nuclear physicists have the expertise — and, incredibly, the moral capacity — to deal with the subject. The people's role, we are told, consists of footing the bill, asking no questions, and living with the unspeakable problems."

Davis asked rhetorically why those espousing nuclear technology have rejected some of the other energy alternatives. "Take away the government subsidies," he said, "take away the glossy public relations campaign budgets, take away the freedom from bearing the liability insurance costs — and we would see the nuclear industry and the electric utilities lose interest in the atom so fast that our heads would spin."

Davis also called on the PSC to investigate the financial structure and stability of the

New York State Power Authority, and to take into consideration the conservation programs that he believes eliminates the need for immediate construction of additional nuclear facilities.

Hayner Running for Post

TOWN OF ULSTER Ralph H. Hayner Sr. (R), a lifelong resident of the Town of Ulster, has announced his candidacy for the town Highway Superintendent post.

In announcing his candidacy, Hayner, who is currently clerk of the works on Ulster's soon-to-be-completed town hall, cited his background of related experience and his ability to perform all duties and responsibilities of the highway post.

His past experience cited includes work as construction project superintendent on several large road and site developments, and the position of senior engineer with the Ulster County Highway Department, which involved supervision, design and surveying.

Hayner pledged that he will be a dedicated full-time official if elected.

Hayner resides with his family on Robert Street in the Town of Ulster. He is a veteran of World War II, has been commander of American Legion Post 1748 and is a member of the VFW, Kingston Lodge No. 10, F. & A.M., and Ulster Hose No. 5.

RALPH H. HAYNER

Stauble in Race

TOWN OF ULSTER Allen (Skip) Stauble Jr. has announced that he will be a candidate for highway superintendent of the Town of Ulster at the town's Republican caucus in September.

Stauble, a graduate of Kingston High School, has 12 years construction experience and eight years with Colonial Sand and Gravel. He is presently general manager of Bryant's Inc.

An active Republican he is vice president of the Town of Ulster Republican Club; a member of Ulster County Young Republican Club; 18-year member of the Ruby Volunteer Fire Co. and a six-year member of its board of directors. He is also a member of the Royal Order of Moose 970 of Kingston, and Town of Ulster Lions Club.

Former constable of the Town of Ulster he is treasurer of Ulster County Constable's Association, member of Teamsters 445; past member of St. Catherine Labourers Parents Club; member of the PTO at John Coleman, Miller and Lake Katrine Schools.

Stauble and his wife, the former Gertrude Jones, are the parents of five children and reside in Ruby.

When asked why he was seeking the position Stauble said he felt there is much needed improvement on the town roads and the beautification program without added taxation. If elected to the position he said he will devote full time making himself available to the people of the town.

Richardson Bows Out of 1976 Campaign

LONDON (UPI) — Former U.S. Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson, whose resignation in the "Saturday Night Massacre" helped lead to President Richard Nixon's downfall, says President Ford's decision to run for a full term has ruled out a Richardson presidential candidacy in 1976.

Instead, he says, he will offer Ford any help he can give. "In the circumstances I see no realistic prospect that I would be playing any active role on my own behalf in 1976," he said in a UPI interview in the U.S. Embassy office he occupies as American ambassador to the Court of St. James. Does that mean he is putting off for four years any plans he himself may have had to run? "Well, I hadn't really made any plans," he said. "But what this means is that I see no chance that I would be making them."

Richardson was Nixon's attorney general at the time of the "Saturday Night Massacre" Oct. 20, 1973. He quit rather than obey the President's orders to fire special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

He has been U.S. ambassador to Britain since April.

Richardson, a young-looking 54, says he likes his job and denies stories that he feels disappointed, let down and mad at the world.

"There's absolutely no basis whatsoever in fact for that report," he said, leaning back on a sofa in office overlooking Grosvenor Square, a stone's throw from President Eisenhower's former headquarters as World War II allied supreme commander.

Richardson wants to leave no doubt he has ruled himself out of the 1976 presidential race, now that Ford has announced he is running.

"I do strongly support his election—or, rather, his nomination as Republican candidate—and I am anxious to see him become President for a full term," he said.

"It has been clear from the beginning that he is an honest, open, decent man," Richardson said. "He has already made important contributions to the restoration of confidence in government simply by virtue of these qualities."

How does he feel Ford has performed as President?

"I believe he has been demonstrably growing in the grasp of his office and in confidence in his own leadership, day by day," Richardson said. "His recent meetings in Europe demonstrate that he does have the qualities to be a successful and effective President in international as well as in domestic matters."

Richardson says he hopes to campaign actively for Ford—either while remaining as ambassador or with a short leave of absence.

"I'd like to be helpful, if I can, and I certainly will offer to do what I can," he said.

"I have found the job of ambassador to the United Kingdom in many respects more interesting than I anticipated. I've not been let down in any respect and I'm not mad at anybody," he said.

As an afterthought, he said, "I've never been busier in my life."

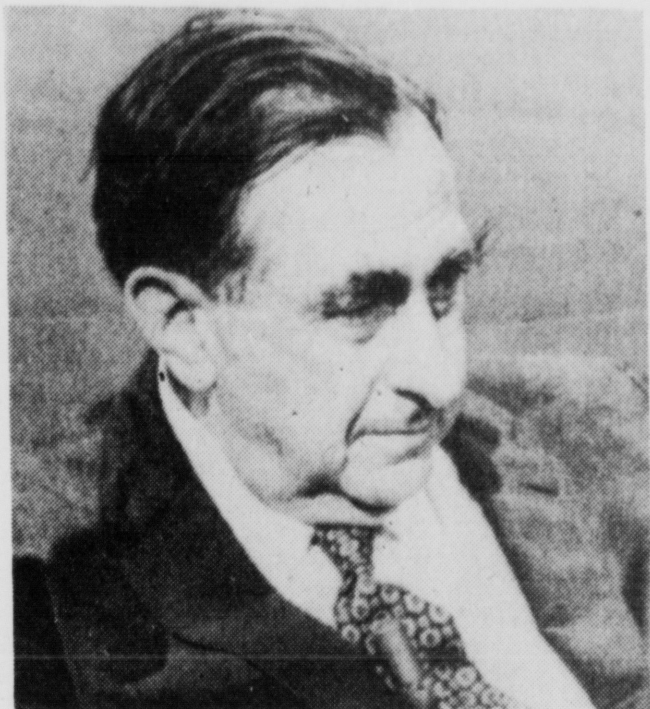

Richardson said he believes the United States is getting over the twin traumas of Watergate and Vietnam and is unlikely to abandon its international responsibilities.

"We are, I think, refocusing on enduring U.S. interests," he said, "including a fundamental, persisting consensus that the U.S. role in Europe and NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization) is vital to the national security of the United States."

Dr. Teller ... No Stranger to Controversy

DR. EDWARD TELLER

LIVERMORE, Calif. (UPI) — Dr. Edward Teller is the so-called "Father of the H-Bomb"—a label he hates. But from the pedestal of that fame, he has over the years involved himself in controversy over the pace—and direction—of science in the United States vs. Russia.

Monday, the 67-year-old bushy-browed researcher retired, and made it clear nothing has changed. He said Russia "will control the future" if America's youth abandons its interest in science.

Teller stepped down from the University of California and the Lawrence research facility, a leader in world nuclear research. But he left no doubt he will continue his controversial and outspoken opinions.

This time, he said the quality of young scientists "has declined to a catastrophic degree."

"What young man wants to go today into a field that is considered irrelevant by so many people?" he continued. "The turning away of public sentiment against scientists, particularly among the young, cannot help to have an effect on the ultimate product."

Teller also attacked politicians who fail to support programs to increase the nation's energy supply.

"The Russians have not been stopped by the cutting of appropriations," he said. He added that "if Russia continues to go ahead while we are involved in philosophical discussions, they will control the future."

fense Secretary James Schlesinger.

Ford's letter praised Teller's "unshakable belief in individualism, progress and technical advancement."

The Hungarian-born Teller, who fled Hitler's Germany in 1934, said the country is approaching a period worse than the 1930s in its potential threat of war and problems in the areas of energy and food.

He grumbled that "too many young people, and many of the rest of us, have been spoiled."

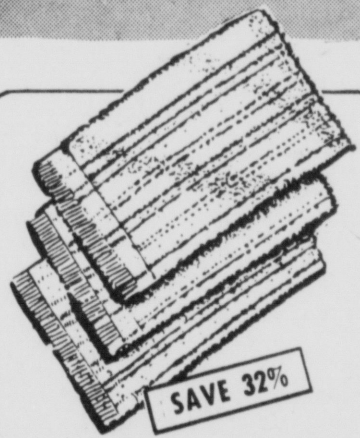

Teller is no stranger to controversy.

He opposed the 1963 nuclear test ban treaty with Russia, saying it was not a "step toward peace but a step away from safety and possibly a step toward war."

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

June 17, 1775:

Hearing of a British plan to take the unoccupied high ground of Dorchester Heights, about 1,600 militiamen under General William Prescott and Major General Israel Putnam construct fortifications on Breed's Hill and Bunker's Hill. Beginning at dawn on the 17th — and heeding General Putnam's command, "Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes!" — the colonists repulse two assaults of 2,400 British regulars under General William Howe. A third assault — culminating with a bayonet charge — forces the colonists to withdraw. Out of powder, they oppose the final British assault by throwing stones and using their muskets as clubs. Although tactically a British victory, General Howe comments that "success [in this first pitched battle of the war] is too dearly bought." The British suffer 1,054 casualties (among them, 92 officers), including 226 killed; the Americans suffer 450 casualties, including 140 killed (among them, the inspiring Dr. Joseph Warren, who is shot in the face).

— By Ross Mackenzie and Jeff MacNelly.

Evidently we are witnessing a new era in American politics—the age of the woman politician. Possibly taking their cue from Lt. Gov. Mary Anne Krupak, a total of 10 area women have been chosen as Democratic candidates for the County Legislature, a hitherto exclusively male organization. This turn of events gives further credence to the slogan, "you've come a long way, baby," and is a good sign that our gals will no longer be content to limit their scope exclusively to the home, and possibly, the PTA. We can undoubtedly expect the emergence of new ideas and different approaches toward campaigning as the fall election nears. In Kingston, too, Democratic mayoral candidate William Darling has picked Emily Joynson as his running mate for the alderman-at-large post, another first for a local woman.

What this augurs on the local political scene is hard to tell at this point. Ulster County voters, in the past, have shown an admirable ability to elect candidates on individual merits. Expectedly they will do so again in November, neither voting against an office seeker because she is female, nor voting for one because of it. In any event, the forthcoming campaign promises to be more than sprightly, something we all can look forward to. Welcome aboard, girls.

"You certainly caught on to 'The Bump' in a hurry!"

By Jack Anderson with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON—Confidential cables from the U.S. embassy in Saigon report that South Vietnam's deposed President Nguyen Van Thieu wants to settle permanently in the United States.

American diplomats have done their best, however, to discourage the idea. They fear that the Vietnam issue is still too hot and that Thieu's arrival might touch off demonstrations.

But they fully expect Thieu will eventually move to the United States. As one source put it: "It's not a question of if; it is a question of when."

Thieu left office on April 21 with a withering blast at the U.S. He charged that U.S. failure to support his regime was the major cause of its disintegration.

He fled Saigon shortly before the victorious Communists moved in and he secured refuge in Taiwan. He is now ensconced in a five-bedroom house in a residential compound outside Taipei.

Behind the high walls are a swimming pool and a garden, where Thieu lolls in seeming tranquility. But the embassy cables indicate that Thieu is unhappy in Taipei and would like to join the South Vietnamese community in America.

Footnote: The Chinese Nationalists, who respect Thieu as an "anti-Communist leader," provide him with police protection. Their main function, apparently, is to keep the press at bay. Thieu has refused to give out interviews.

TELEPHONE MONITORING: The Central Intelligence Agency monitored all telephone calls between the United States and Latin America for three months, apparently without the knowledge of the telephone company.

We checked into this illegal telephone monitoring several months ago. Both the CIA and the Bell System flatly denied the story. Now the Rockefeller Commission has confirmed that the calls were monitored in late 1973 until the CIA's general counsel put a stop to it.

A spokesman for the Bell System still assures us the company "had no knowledge of any wiretapping by the CIA and did not at any time provide any assistance to the agency in connection with wiretapping, eavesdropping or otherwise monitoring of any telephone calls between the United States and any foreign countries, including those in Latin America."

We have learned, however, that the Bell System provided the CIA with traffic information on calls between the U.S. and both Russia and China.

This information, a spokesman explained, "was not furnished with respect to any particular callers but rather on all calls. It included only the names, telephone numbers and locations of the parties involved and the date, time and duration of any completed calls. The information provided did not disclose the content of any conversation."

WORLD TRAVELER: The delightful if irascible Helen Delich Bentley, who is awaiting reappointment as chairwoman of the Federal Maritime Commission, hasn't spent much time on the job.

She has been too busy seeing the world. In 1974, for example, she took 36 trips to such pleasure spots as Geneva, London, Paris, San Francisco and her hometown of Reno. Her airline bills cost the taxpayers more than $15,000.

Partly as a result of her constant junketing, the cases before the Federal Maritime Commission are backlogged four years. Her fellow commissioners have pleaded with her to attend to her duties, but she has merely given them the bursh-off.

Two commissioners, Clarence Morse and Ashton Barrett, were willing to go on the record. They called Ms. Bentley a poor administrator. "She's a square peg in a round hole," said Morse.

They complained that she treated the commission as her personal domain. For instance, they said she usually ties up both of the commission's available limousines on personal errands. Her chauffeur has his own office near here, they said.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Thieu Wants to Come to the U.S.

Besides flying all over the world at government expense, Ms. Bentley also loves ship christenings. At one christening, she received a valuable pin, studded with diamonds and rubies from Avondale shipyards.

She accepted the gift, she told us, "as a patriotic gesture because it is in the shape of an American flag." She promised us that she would return it after she leaves office.

She has also accepted other gifts at ship christenings, including a bracelet which she gave to a niece and a large wooden frame which hangs in her office.

In the past, we have also exposed Ms. Bentley's habit of twisting the arms of shipping tycoons for political contributions. Here is a rundown:

—In 1972, she collected at least $20,000 in donations for the Nixon campaign from the shipping industry she is supposed to regulate.

—In 1974, she toyed with the idea of running against Sen. Charles Mathias, R-Md. It was reported that her backers, under the name "Friends of Helen Bentley," solicited political contributions from the practitioners whose appearances before the commission had been listed. She denied any knowledge of the misuse of the lists.

As for her world wanderings, she said thetrips were official business as she defines the guidelines. She also insisted that, so far as she knew, the commission has only two cases pending.

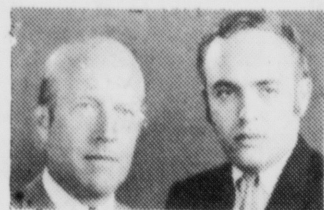

A White House spokesman told us, meanwhile, that she is the only person now under consideration for the Maritime Commission chairmanship.

Inside Report

Confreres Ready Rebuke for Harrington

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON—Despite private advice from the parliamentarian's office that the House Ethics Committee lacks jurisdiction in a case looking toward a possible rebuke of Massachusetts Rep. Michael Harrington, a liberal Democrat who has led attacks on the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), the Ethics Committee is expected to meet next week to consider the case.

The move against Harrington, an outspoken CIA critic particularly in the Chile affair, has been hatching for almost a year, the result of smoldering resentment over what some Armed Service Committee members say privately was Harrington's violation of a signed secrecy pledge.

Harrington signed the pledge on June 4, 1974, as a condition for obtaining access to secret testimony given to the Armed Services CIA oversight subcommittee by CIA director William Colby on the agency's activities in domestic Chilean politics before and during the Allende regime.

The secrecy pledge signed by Harrington was as follows: "The contents of such classified information (Colby's testimony) will not be divulged to any unauthorized person in any way, form, shape or manner."

Angered over what he regarded as congressional apathy in the CIA-Chile affair, Harrington subsequently informed the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations and House Foreign Affairs Committees, as well as other Congressmen, members of his own staff and one highly reputable reporter, that Colby's testimony contained political dynamite. The general thrust of Colby's testimony was given by Harrington at least to the two committee chairmen, and possibly others.

Harrington admitted as much to the Armed Services Committee last Sept. 12 after the CIA's activities in Chile were exposed by the New York Times. He was called on the carpet by then committee chairman, Rep. Edward Hebert of Louisiana, who suspected Harrington himself as the leak for the Times expose.

Denying he was the leak, Harrington was excused by the Armed Services Committee after his Sept. 12 interrogation and the matter appeared closed. But on May 25, Harrington read former CIA Latin America chief David A. Phillips's defense of the agency in a signed article in the New York Times. Phillips wrote that it was a "myth" that the CIA "encouraged the Chilean plotters who toppled President Salvador Allende Gossens and funded the strikes leading to the coup" against Marxist Allende.

Angered once again, Harrington wrote a circular letter to House colleagues suggesting that they do what he did last June: obtain access to Colby's still-secret testimony to the Armed Services CIA oversight committee.

That letter triggered the disciplinary action by the committee. It voted unanimously (with 13 of 40 members present) to deny Harrington access to any more classified material at least until the House Ethics Committee (officially the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct) examines the whole question of access to a committee's secret testimony by non-committee members—a direct rebuke to Harrington.

Ford's California Coup

President Ford's as-yet unannounced presidential campaign committee in the home state of former Gov. Ronald Reagan will number at least two of Reagan's long-time aides and political advisers, including state Republican chairman Paul Haerle.

Haerle and state attorney general Evelle Younger, the state's top Republican officeholder, will be co-chairmen of the Ford campaign committee with Anita Wentner Ashcraft, vice chairman of Reagan's 1970 reelection finance committee, to take over as active head of the Ford California campaign later this year.

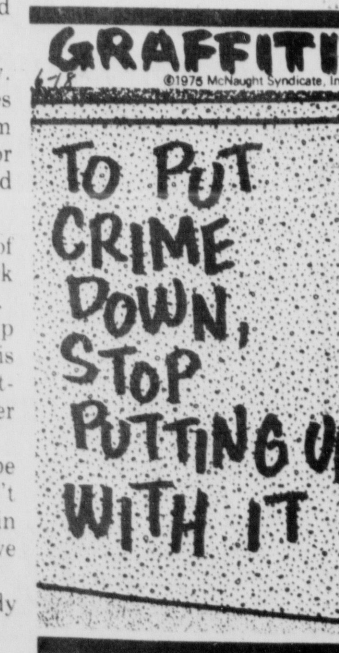

For Mr. Ford, the quiet acquisition of Haerle and Anita Ashcraft is a major coup, establishing his political clout and proving that Reagan, a possible contender against the President for the 1976 nomination, does not own his own state of California.

Haerle was an all-out conservative backer of Sen. Barry Goldwater's presidential nomination in 1964. Northern California chairman for Reagan's first gubernatorial campaign in 1966, Haerle became his personal appointments secretary for the next three years. More recently, Haerle has been out of the inner Reagan circle—but all his past Republican credentials are with the former governor.

With David Packard, board chairman of Hewlett-Packard, as national finance chairman for the Ford campaign, White House operatives feel the President has made more solid progress in California than any other state. Top coordinator for the state is Mr. Ford's close personal friend, Leon Parma, vice president of San Diego-based Teledyne Corp. and one-time administrative assistant of conservative Rep. Bob Wilson of California.

A footnote: Haerle has been criticized for his imminent move to the Ford camp on grounds that the Republican state chairman should be neutral. But Haerle won't change his mind.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Taking the Starch Out of Him

For an hour I've been scanning a fat magazine called "The Ledger Monthly." It sold for 5 cents and the issue is November, 1899. The ads are of some interest.

The new Odell typewriter was selling for $7.50. An indoor toilet with automatic flusher went for $30, which is $5 more than the Cornish deep tone organ cost. A rock of a diamond, mounted in a tiger claw gold ring, sold for $200.

Nothing, however, drew my attention more than an article entitled: "Some of the Things That I Know," by "a Woman who knows Her Duty." Remember, the year is 1899, when there was no women's liberation movement, and the little wife was reputed to be the slave of a drooling monster.

"I am a lucky woman," she wrote. "A halo of success has surrounded every act I have undertaken. All my daughters have married the men who, of all the world, were best suited to them and this was accomplished, not through any curious idleness, but because my daughters followed my dictations."

"My blessed sons never ran out of the parental groove by so much as a hair's breadth until they attained their majority; for years afterward I kept a watchful eye on them."

"I call the reader's attention to two things. First, I made a study of a wife's correct attitude toward her husband. The man I married had little reputation beyond that of being my husband."

"With husbands, no wife can scold amiss. If he hasn't done 'this or that,' he has probably done something else. Scolding clears the domestic atmosphere; you must keep up a perpetual cannonading or there will be a revolt."

"Husbands tend to become unmanageable unless they are kept up to the mark. Don't lose any time achieving this. Once let a man hoist the flag of independence and unless you haul it down in double-quick time, you're a lost woman."

"Once allow him to suppose that he's master of the house and the first thing you know it will be: 'Minnie, bring me a match for my cigar' or 'Minnie, I invited Jones and Howard to dinner. You needn't make any extra preparation.'"

"Once begin to wait on him, and you're in business the rest of your life. To be correct, you must blame him for everything he does. Make up your mind not to be satisfied. If it rains, blame him because the sun doesn't shine; if he places his newspaper on one corner of the mantelpiece, scold him because he didn't put it on the other."

"If he laughs loudly, put your hands in your ears and ask him if he supposes you were made without nerves. If he frowns, call him ill-natured."

"Should he bring home tickets for the theatre, you had your heart set on going to the opera. If he speaks to a lady, turn jealous; go into hysterics. If he joins a knot of gentlemen, tell him it is obvious that his poor wife's society no longer holds any charms for him."

"If he invites friends at night, remind him that you do not run a hotel. If he doesn't invite anyone, call him an anti-social bore. If he is fond of roast turkey, serve cold pork. If he desires morning coffee, remind him that it is unhealthy."

"Do not, ladies, do not give him his own way. Contradict him on all occasions. Tread on his toes when he speaks. If he remains silent, call him 'sulky.' When he sleeps, search all his pockets for strong cigars, champagne corks, peanut shells and other silent clues to his depravity."

"If you do not keep up this perpetual stream of intimidation, why he might be bold enough to chuck you under the chin, or pull your curls, or worse."

"In time, he might be sufficiently brazen to keep dinner waiting; he will someday surely elevate his feet on the parlor table; he might become sufficiently insane to imagine that a wife likes to wait on her husband."

"Just follow my system, however, and you'll be pretty sure to take the starch out of him. Don't become discouraged if he is a little stiff and 'set in his ways' at first; two or three months of the above conjugal discipline will make him limp."

And those are just some of the things the lady knows.

Freeman Readers Write

Editor, The Freeman:

Is it any wonder, after reading accounts of the "deer tragedy" in New Paltz, that many of our young people have little or no respect for the law or law officers?

I can almost excuse the actions of the so-called Conservation Officers (perhaps conserving their own political jobs), as due to inadequate training and ignorance of good public relations. Complaints during hunting seasons are answered after an explanation of their "manpower shortage," but after all, the hunters and the powerful gun lobby are paying their salaries through licence fees. They did manage plenty of manpower, however, to subdue a small deer, and to terrorize a compassionate family.

No Benefit

The role of the State Police in the incident, however, baffles me completely. Supposedly among the finest trained police in this country, their public relations also seemed sadly lacking in this case. It is shocking to me, that the troopers would participate or idly witness the "storm trooper" tactics used at the LaFalce home. I am apparently among the many who are unaware that such laws exist in this country. Laws that allow police to arbitrarily invade a person's private domain, violate his rights, and destroy his property. Are court orders and search warrants obsolete? It was my understanding, that only in the case of a suspected felony in progress, could such legal formalities be by-passed.

Perhaps the cutting back of police manpower is a beneficial step, after all. In the future, police agencies may have to concentrate on bona fide criminals, with less time for public harassment. Perhaps the armed robbers, rapists etc., will receive the policeman's full attention, rather than some poor slob with a bald tire, who can't even keep groceries on the table, or some kindly soul saving the life of one of God's creatures.

Finally, I hope all those officers sleep well these nights, as well as the poor, warped person who made the complaint in the first place. The only benefit I can see from the animal's "murder," is that there will be one less lamb for the state to fatten up for next fall's slaughter.

tionist and I know the population of many species must be kept in check so the remainder will not starve. So I do not disapprove of hunting in overcrowded areas. But here we have, with this little deer, an example of the most unforgivable sin of all — ignorance and the inability to be flexible in relation to the "letter of the law."

A few years back, several Woodstock-lovers were on the Town Board and we planned out a few ordinances and thoughts that we felt would be nice, loose guidelines for the men who would take over the harness at a later time. (Personally, I was councilman for eleven years and couldn't have cared less about politics — it was the trees I was saving and the face the Village put on. So?).

But many of the lads on the various committees seem to have forgotten old Ben's admonition . . . "flexibility in relation to the 'letter of the law.'"

A tear for you, my little deer. Wild beasts should not live in a human society, but in this case it was beautiful and necessary. A sad day for the little animal, but far sadder as a commentary on human stupidity.

have caused no loss or harm but would have settled the case of the pet deer without killing it and riding roughshod over human emotions and property rights.

I know how the LaFalce family felt coming up against the stone wall of bureaucracy, the "I-am-the-law" attitude that permits no discussion. We had a similar experience with a State agency — they would not acknowledge or reply to letters or listen to our position and finally served a legal paper saying they had obtained a judgment against us. We wrote to Governor Rockefeller who made the agency give us a hearing, where our position proved to be correct. Another experience with a county official had a semi-happy ending only after the intervention of an influential person who was a friend of ours.

Unfortunately, there is not always an influential person available or willing to intervene and Power (with a capital "P") prevails. Small men with a little power who need to build their egos by being "tin gods with Power" are very dangerous, for of such is totalitarianism built.

Felina. In our opinion, she was not a wild animal, but a domesticated one. She was not ferocious, destructive or harmful to man. We question whether any animal, raised since infancy by humans, can successfully be reconditioned to a totally wildlife style. There are a few reported cases and these have been accomplished by very capable people. The Conservation Department leaves very serious doubts as to whether they have people of these requirements in their employ.

We have been in contact with Assemblyman Hinchee about this matter. He has assured us that he will introduce legislation to amend the existing law regarding the rights of citizens to possess wild animals in certain cases. Our organization will support his efforts to the fullest degree. In the meantime, we will strongly urge that the Conservation Department carefully review the performance of the individuals involved. Perhaps they would be better suited for some other area of work, preferably one where neither humans nor animals would suffer as a result of their actions.

We wish to express our sympathy to the LaFalce family and publicly pledge that we will work with them to assure that a similar situation will never occur.

tion? Is this the kind of humane law enforcement we can expect from your department?

The welfare and good feelings of the children that cared for the deer were counted as nothing compared to the mindless, by-the-book law enforcement that makes no consideration for humanity. Think of the good press that could have come from handling the situation with compassion and good judgment.

We can all understand the laws dealing with wildlife. But, laws that cannot be tempered with humanity and good judgment are a tyranny worse than any evil they can ever prevent.

In an era when big government has been riding rough shod over the people it is sworn to serve, this is a classic example of all that's bad about government.

The State of New York doesn't have enough money to pay the kind of damage these people, especially the children, deserve. A very humble public apology is certainly in order.

fare of others, these persons represent a threat to our democratic society.

The law is meant as a guideline and a good law enforcement officer recognizes this. One who does not have the necessary judgment and wisdom should not — cannot — be granted authority and power he does not know how to utilize. These powers, used improperly, can result in injury and destruction of life as was evidenced here.

I hope I can feel confident that the necessary investigation of this incident will be carried out and that the persons responsible will promptly be relieved of their positions, and that some form of restitution will be made to the LaFalces.

that many persons have pet raccoons, skunks, bears, wildcats, wolves etc. Thank God they have or else they would be the end of a jolly sportsman's gun. Also Mr. Schwartz acts as if "the State" was a separate body of holier than thou. May I remind him "te State" is "The People" in our country. As to a deer, or any other creature — even man himself being dangerous when mating season is on — ain't it the truth? Bees, dogs, cats you name it and they go out of their ever-lovin' mind when the sound of the turtle is heard. So shall we lock everything and everybody up, Mr. Schwartz — they are dangerous you know.

. . . all about the New Paltz deer

Editor, The Freeman:

With respect to the family of Mr. Jack LaFalce and his encounter with the Department of Environmental Conservation and the State Police, I feel very strongly that Mr. LaFalce's rights under the 4th Amendment were quite clearly denied.

The 4th Amendment states: "The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized."

To quote a paragraph of the Freeman article of June 11: "Capt. George Odell, chief of the law enforcement division of the DEC's Region III office in New Paltz, told the Freeman today, however, that state conservation law clearly prohibits possession of a wild animal. And, unlike the penal law, Odell said that a warrant or court order is not required for state officials to enforce the conservation law."

I resist the urge to underline. I cannot comprehend Capt. Odell or any department head putting himself above the Bill of Rights (the first 10 amendments to the Constitution).

This man ordered 5 Conservation Officers and 2 State Police Officers to ignore and defy Mr. LaFalce's rights, and to invade his property without a warrant, in direct violation of the 4th Amendment, to forcibly take a family pet from them.

As a Captain in the Department of Environmental Conservation, I doubt that Mr. Odell is an ELECTED OFFICIAL.

he's more likely an appointed official. Because of this, I question what Right he, or anyone else has, to trespass on Mr. LaFalce's property and seize their family pet. Please tell me who is responsible for interpreting our Constitution and laws? Appointed civil servants or our elected officials? If it is our elected officials who interpret the law, at least we have an opportunity of ousting them in the next election, but if it is the appointed civil servants who interpret the law, what protection do we, the people, have against them?

To me, this is not government by choice, but rather government by decree. It reminds me of our forefathers rallying point, "Taxation without Representation is Tyranny."

What representation do we have against administrators such as Capt. Odell et al.? To quote a small portion of the Declaration of Independence: " — all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed." Government is AT ALL TIMES RESPONSIBLE TO THE PEOPLE and not the other way around.

This instance, to me, was a clear abuse of power by the Department of Environmental Conservation, in direct violation of the Declaration of Independence and, more importantly, the 4th Amendment. Unfortunately Capt. Odell's plan did not work out and the deer in question is dead.

Sincerely,
ROGER F. BEAULIEU

Compassion

Editor, The Freeman:

Is this America the free or a police state? I am referring to the recent "big stick" tactics employed by the D.E.C. in the LaFalce deer case. This deer had been nurtured back to health and cared for by the LaFalce family since infancy. On June 12th it was forcibly wrenched from their protective environment by the D.E.C. in the name of "humaneness". Today it is dead. This gentle, tame creature was another victim of man's insensitivity. This despicable manner in which the deer was removed to a game reserve, resulting in a confused, struggling, half tranquilized animal being wrestled into a wooden crate, is enough to make one very irate. But the underlying principle involved is even more important. In a time when there is a decided lack of humaneness and kindness in the world, it seems to me that the compassion and love shown for this animal by the LaFalce family should be encouraged, not thwarted.

Mr. Fred Ford, Chief of Region III Bureau of Wildlife, spoke of the "inhumaneness" of keeping a wild animal in captivity. I wonder if he fully realizes the "inhumaneness" he is responsible for by sticking to the strict letter of the law and separating the deer from her adopted family. Feline was happy — the LaFalce family was happy. Now there is only grief, bitterness and death.

I hope this unfortunate incident is investigated thoroughly and the authorities responsible for this unjust decision reprimanded and prevented from allowing this to happen again. A man displaying such a gross lack of sensitivity as Mr. Ford should have no place in the Conservation Department.

BARBARA CHUPAY

Chance Fedded

Editor, The Freeman:

I am very concerned about the fact that the LaFalce's deer was taken away. They said that the deer was dangerous, and if it got mad it might kick someone, but think of all the horses they keep on the ranch. These are considered domesticated, but if they got hot and aggravated they could turn on some one and kill them. Any animal is dangerous. Even dogs have been known to turn on their owners.

I knew the deer, Feline, and she was very gentle. She would come up to you and lick you. I believe that she could be considered a pet. Think of all the people who keep "wild" animals as pets. I know of people in New Paltz who keep snakes, birds, frogs, rabbits, raccoons, hawks and monkeys, which are taken from the wild, stuck in cages and yet are called pets. If as Mr. Odell, chief conservation officers of the State Department of Environmental Conservation, states, "All wildlife belongs to the State," then why aren't these animals confiscated? Or is the law just for this one pet. It's too late now for Feline, but if there is a law that says that people can come and take your pet away without any warrant or court action then I think that the law should be changed.

Yours truly,

Critical

Editor, The Freeman:

In regards to the matter of the pet deer taken from the home of the Jack LaFalce family of New Paltz, I think it is a shame that the people that confiscated the animal could not care for it. The family whose pet it was had no problem handling it.

The claim that a pet deer may harm one of the family does not seem to hold much water. I have read of individuals having pythons, beaver and even wolves as pets without adverse affects.

The fact that owner could bring the animal back to health and care for it is proof enough that he had earned the right to enjoy the animal as a companion to his family.

Yours,

Editor, The Freeman:

I am sure that most people and all animal-lovers are sickened by the Gestapo-like tactics used by employees of the Bureau of Wildlife which resulted in the untimely and cruel death of a contented and beautiful animal and sorrow and trouble for the Jack LaFalce family.

I hope that Mr. Ogden Reid, Commissioner of the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation, will, indeed, keep his promise to follow this matter through to the end that such a painful and unnecessary incident will not be allowed to happen again.

Communists Make Gains As Italians Are Fed Up With Problems

By UPI

Italy's history dates back 2,700 years to ancient Rome, but centuries of division, foreign rule and political wrangling have left it a backward nation open to Communist calls for change.

Voters fed up with one of the worst living standards in Europe have given the Communists major gains in regional elections that could have far-reaching consequences.

Long divided by foreign rulers, Italy remained a country of warring factions even after the country was finally unified 105 years ago.

Italy has eight nationwide political parties, most divided internally. It has had 37 governments in 31 years.

For years, the 56 million inhabitants in the boot-shaped Mediterranean country have lived under conditions that would astonish most other Westerners.

Italian newspaper readership is one of Europe's lowest, the infant mortality rate one of the highest. Living standards in Milan and other cities of the north are comparable to those of central Europe.

Standards in Naples and elsewhere in the south are close to those of the Middle East.

The mails, hospitals and schools are among the worst in Europe. The state bureaucracy and courts are slow, with a routine civil case taking about five years.

Inflation has been rising at an annual rate of 25 percent. There are 800,000 unemployed and tens of thousands of workers on shortened hours.

Bombing and other violence by right and left-wing extremists claimed 21 lives in 1974 and six so far this year. Common crime also has been on the rise, with 40 kidnappings for ransom last year and 23 this year.

The Christian Democratic party, which has dominated the government since the country became a republic in 1946, has been steadily undermined by Italy's growing list of ills.

In addition, inter-party warfare, allegations of corruption and the sheer wear and tear of power further eroded its credibility.

The Christian Democrats, founded and led by early post-war successes by the late Premier Alcide De Gasperi, are closely identified in the minds of Italians with the Vatican and the United States.

The country's Communist party, largest in the West and second in Italy only to the Christian Democrats, has gained ground in every post-war election.

But its gain of 2.4 million votes in the latest regional elections was by far the largest, more than double the previous record gain of 4 million votes in the 1963 general elections.

The result could be a decisive Communist say in government policies or an all-out confrontation between the right and left, which could tempt the military to step in.

Either development would be a serious blow to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, already weakened by the withdrawals of France, Turkey and Greece from the military arm and the increasing Communist influence in Portugal.

'Innocent' Situation With Aliens

CHICAGO (UPI) — Few employers admit they purposely hire illegal aliens, and Immigration and Naturalization officials say they believe most do so in all innocence.

William Bartley, district director of immigration in Chicago, estimates that more than 90 percent of the illegal aliens hired are assumed to be citizens.

Bartley said the service also is receiving increased cooperation from companies that have had operations disrupted by the arrests of large numbers of aliens in the past.

A spokesman for one company that has tightened screening as the result of arrests said the firm cannot afford to train workers who might be deported soon after they are trained. But, he added, counterfeit alien registration cards have made the screening process difficult.

Joel Rogers, officer in charge of the INS office in Hammond, Ind., said counterfeit cards are becoming more readily available, but added a careful reading of job applications can help in screening.

He suggested that a 31-year-old employee who lists no previous job experience, or who lists experience in other countries, should be studied carefully. The same holds true for persons with educational background or immediate families in other countries.

Of course, Bartley added, some employers like to hire illegal aliens and do so repeatedly.

"They like to get the alien in the place because the alien laborer is more likely to be self-effacing. He's not as likely to make demands," Bartley said. He added these employers will attempt occasionally to protect the aliens.

At one Chicago area plant, investigators were delayed at the personnel office while 30 illegal aliens were herded into a large box next to the plant where they were later found.

Farmers complain that they cannot get citizens to handle the menial work associated with planting potatoes and sugar beets, according to Harrison Rhodes, officer in charge of the INS office in Boise, Idaho.

A bill now is pending in Congress that sets fines and jail terms for employers who repeatedly hire illegal aliens.

How to make great tasting coffee.

Start with a clean pot. Be sure it is shiny clean before each use. Even a slight amount of old coffee adhering to the pot can keep you from getting the fresh, clean taste of perfectly-made coffee.

2.

Measure carefully. For each cup of coffee, use 6 ounces of cold water, and one slightly rounded tablespoon of coffee. You may vary the strength by using slightly more or less coffee. But, when you've learned your family's preference, be scrupulous about using the same measurements each time.

3.

Use a great coffee. Folger's has an extra-good taste no other coffee matches—because Folger's has a very special blend. Even its aroma seems to tell you that Folger's is extra rich and delicious. And Folger's is mountain-grown—the richest tasting coffee there is!

Indians Win Jersey Contest

Sunshine gleams off the horns of Kingston Indians who traveled to Woodridge, N.J. on Sunday for their first marching and maneuvering match of 1975, copping first place with a total score of 72.8. In addition to a first place trophy, Kingston was awarded another trophy for having the best color guard at the contest, sponsored by the Townsman Drum and Bugle Corps. Second place went to a Long Island Corps with a mark of 67.25. The Indians will compete in Elizabeth, N.J. on Saturday at the Polish Falcons' exhibition against some of the top corps in the east. The 11th annual Pow Wow of Champions will be held at Dietz Stadium on July 20. Tickets are available from Gil Sampson, 227 Greenkill Avenue. (Freeman photo)

11 Bands Set For Jaycee Parade

SAUGERTIES
Saugerties Jaycee parade chairman Jerry Kurtz has announced that a minimum of 11 bands will be in this year's Fourth of July parade.

The Saugerties High School Band, recently named the "Pride of Ulster County," will be marching, along with the Kingston Indians and their junior counterparts, the "Troop 12 Indians."

Two new fife and drum corps will be presented to Saugerties this year, the "Village Volunteers of Delmar" and "Marquis of Granby" from Granby, Conn.

Local favorites "Amerscot of Highland Pipe Band" will be performing, along with the "Continental Cadets of Catskill," the "Troop 36 Berets of Saugerties," the "Pacers" from Poughkeepsie, the "Vagabonds" of Hyde Park, and the "Lancers" of New York City.

No parade is complete without outstanding floats, which are annually created by active local organizations. Kurtz commented that this year's float theme, "Pride in our Freedoms," is a wide-open field for all.

Organizations desiring to put a float or a marching group into the parade are asked to contact Kurtz at 5 Austin Avenue, Saugerties, or by telephoning 246-2575.

Tony Mennella, concession chairman, is still booking anyone interested in running a cotton candy or fried dough concession. All community service type organizations are welcome, and may contact Menella at 246-6656, or George Pardonner at 246-5688 after 6 p.m.

Smith Named to Head Marist Fund Drive

POUGHKEEPSIE
Gary L. Smith has been selected to head the $4.2 million capital campaign currently under way at Marist College.

Dr. Jack A. McEnroe, chairman of the board of trustees, said that as general chairman Smith will coordinate all facets of the campaign, including enlistment of leadership and the operation of the overall fund-raising campaign.

A 1963 Marist graduate, Smith has been a trustee of the college since 1971. Currently he is a member of the Executive Committee, serving as secretary, and is chairman of the trustees' planning committee, which is overseeing the current development program.

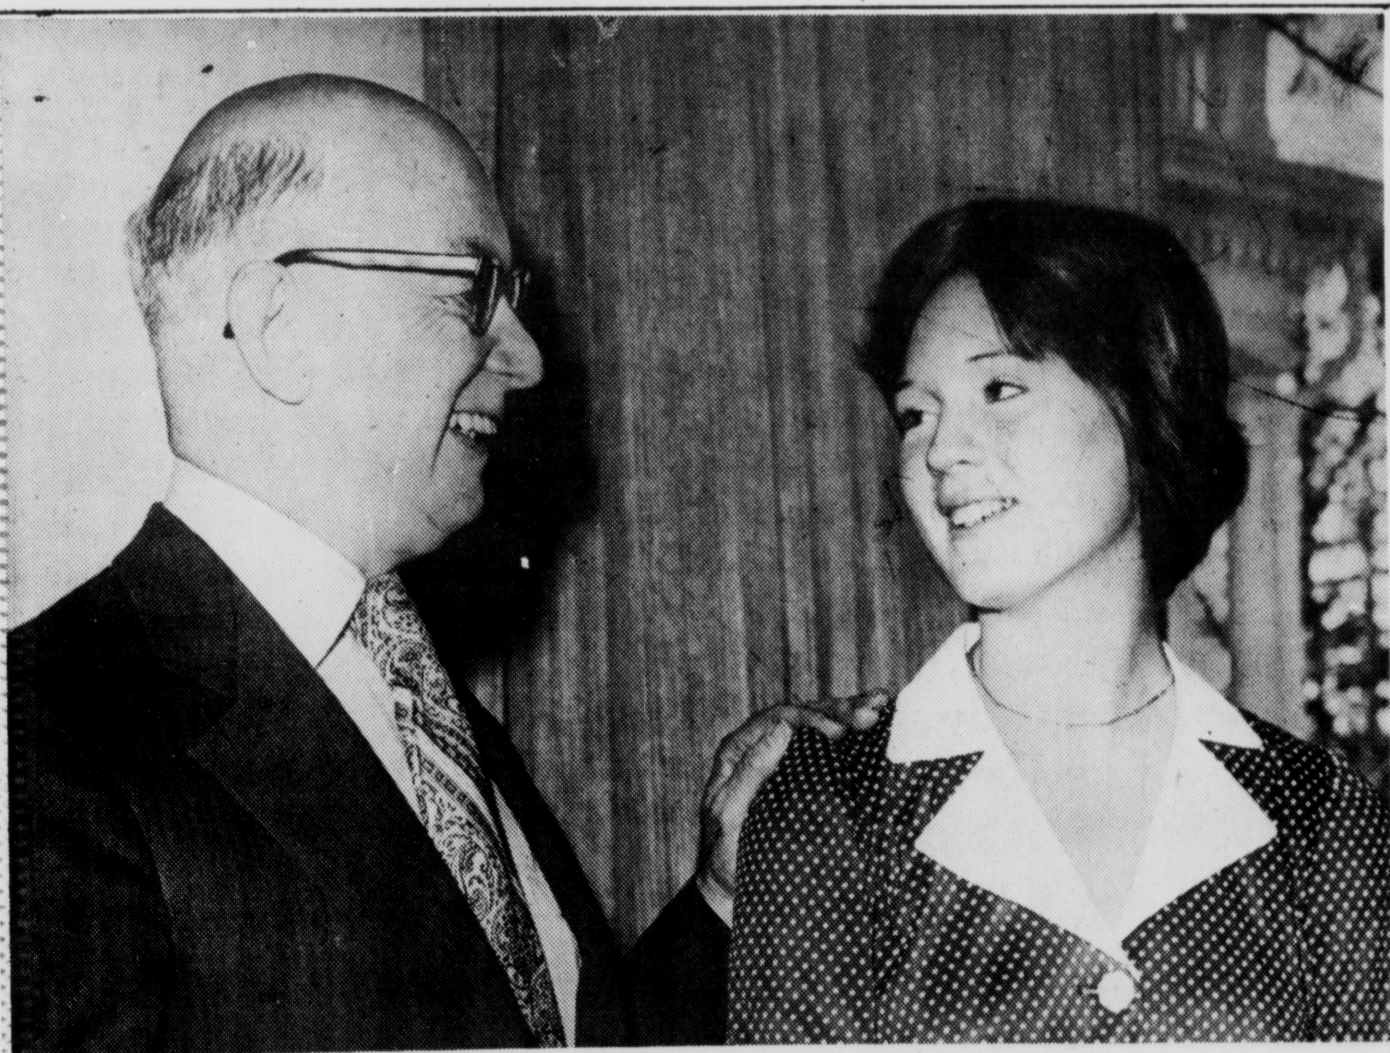

Of the total goal, trustees have targeted $2 million for a physical education and recreation center, including a field house accommodating 2,000 spectators and an Olympic-size pool which, according to Smith, will be available for public use.

Another $1 million will relocate and expand the college library. The remainder, which represents the first phase of a long-range $15 million program, will be used to renovate the college's campus center to better serve the student body and the public and to modify existing structures, especially for use by disabled students.

Smith, a systems marketing representative with the Office Products Division of IBM in Poughkeepsie, said the campaign organization has already begun to seek support from foundations, business and industry individuals, and college trustees, faculty, staff and alumni.

Educated in Poughkeepsie schools, Smith was editor of both the college newspaper and yearbook while at Marist. He served in the U.S. Air Force from 1963-68. Active in community affairs, he also has been cited by "Community Leaders and Noteworthy Americans."

Sawyer will send her off to school with a smile.

We like to see young men and women well prepared for their future. And we know that the right preparation calls for a good education. But before starting off for school, a student often needs financial help—help Sawyer Savings can provide. Students can borrow up to $10,000 for study programs. High school graduates enrolled full time at vocational institutions which have a Standard Agreement with New York Higher Education Assistance Corporation may borrow $1,500.

Repayment of whatever amount borrowed need not begin until ten months after classes have been completed, and payments can be stretched over a ten year period. You'll be happy to learn how much Sawyer Savings can contribute to your future. Find out about our Student Loans today... and smile.

LIFE TODAY

By Tobie Geertsema

It isn't news to anyone that the slump that started late in 1973 is still slumping along. Sales of new cars remain sluggish in the face of rebates and discounts. Home building is in the doldrums. The recession is still very much with us, taking its toll in unemployment, lower profits, and declining output. Business spending on plant and equipment is being scaled back — and back again. Even sales on that always popular all-American beverage — the soft drink — are way off and showing no sign of a pick-up.

But, just possible, felt the Freeman, one fairly specialized business might not be feeling the pinch. The assignment, then: check with local and area repair shops as to whether their business has been affected for good or bad as a result of the hard times economy.

Ironically, the first number dialed (a shop that had been in the small appliance repair business in the Town of Ulster) had been disconnected. That didn't leave much doubt that this particular business had certainly been affected by something. Could it be a prediction of things to come as we pursued the story? Was the pinch being felt here, too?

The second number called brought a busy signal. A reverse prediction, perhaps, signifying business was booming as prospective customers clogged up the phone lines? Three more phone calls and we eventually made contact with Bob Schoen, who specializes in repairing everything in the appliance line except refrigerators and air conditioners at his Aqua-Wash, Inc. on Flatbush Road.

"Yes," says Bob, "people are bringing in their small line appliances (toasters, irons, fans, shavers, electric percolators) as well as their washing machines, dryers and dishwashers. And they're willing to go for more expensive repairs, as well. They no longer say, as they used to, 'Just forget it... I'll get another one.'"

Aqua-Wash also sells used equipment, and Schoen says sales on used items have gone up for the same reason. "If people can pick up something used that's good and workable, they'd rather buy that than something new," he says. For him personally, there has been an upswing in both repairs and sales. "Business has picked up since the beginning of the year," he said, "a lot more so than last year. I've done more already in the first six months of this year than all of last year combined."

Broadway, they look at the matter in a somewhat different light. "There appears to be no difference at all," we were told. "The cost of repairs is such that with the rebates and the low prices at most of the discount houses, the cost of repairs is about equivalent to replacement on small things for three months — "People (including schools) are buying them faster than we can get them ready," they say. And add: "We do quite a bit of repair work — enough to keep us busy." The firm admits, however, that, "Not as many new appliances are being sold as previously." They used to sell "quite a few new pieces every day," but now the average is less than that.

Over at Rossi Power Equipment Sales and Service on Hasbrouck Avenue and Foxhall in Kingston, where lawnmowers are sold and repaired, both sales and repairs "have grown so much and so big" that the shop is "kept very, very busy." Says Rossi, "Business is fantastic in season, and they don't care what it costs. When that grass starts growing, people just have to get out and cut it... and if a mower has to be repaired, no matter what. In the new equipment line, too, I've been selling more of the high-priced merchandise. When money is scarce or tight, people want to buy something trustworthy that will last a while — so the high-priced stuff is moving good. Other dealers are finding the same thing, they tell me... the cheap stuff they are not selling any more. So it seems that at least one thing good has come out of this bad economic period — a return to quality products."

So, frugality seems to be the watchword in most instances, if not in all. Definitely more repairs in small appliances, bigger machines, and older items. A trend toward more expensive repairs, and a reluctance to cart recyclable articles to the dump. Sale of used products up and sales of new merchandise down — except where quality makes the difference.

Only in Woodstock does the story differ, where — as the Cousins firm says, "It doesn't make much sense when you try to analyze what's happening here." But, then, any number of people would not only be willing to admit — but happy to testify — that the art colony has always been different from other places. And foremost among them would be the town's own Chamber of Commerce, a group totally dedicated to the business economy.

Harold Quick of Quick's Vacuum Cleaner Service on Downs Street, where all makes and models of vacuums are sold and repaired, has long had a reputation as the man to deal with in that business. Because of that, his sales have always been good. And, if the repair business is not exactly booming, Quick says that more people are getting vacuums repaired than are buying new merchandise. "It's been a lot better than last year," he says, "especially in the last four months — a really notable difference in repairs as compared to sales. The people who off, which doesn't make much sense."

At the Appliance Center of Poughkeepsie on Kingston's like irons and hair dryer dryers and blenders. So there's no difference at all in the repair business on small appliances. But on bigger or more major ones like vacuums and waxes, there has most definitely been an increase in repairs."

Fraser and Myers Appliance Sales and Service, also on Broadway in Kingston, specializes in washing machines. Says a spokesman there: "We do more repair work now on machines that are 13 or 14

"Business has picked up. I've done more already in the first six months of this year than all of last year combined."

come to me are tightening their belts just like all the rest of us."

The story is far different at Cousins Home Appliance in Woodstock, where all kinds of small appliances are repaired from toasters to waffle irons. They've been experiencing a downward trend in repairs of small appliances and, in addition, sales of small appliances have dropped off. Says Mr. Cousins: "There has been no great change in our small items repair business. Repairs and sales have both dropped years old — machines that people would normally throw away and replace by buying a new one. If the center shaft is not completely gone, they are willing to pay $80 to $90 to save the machine rather than invest in a new one. And there seems to be a great many more repairs these days."

Because Fraser and Myers has a reputation for tearing old washers down and overhauling them completely until they are like new machines — and because they guarantee them

Bard Auction at Schuyler House

Historic Schuyler House, east of Rhinebeck on Route 308, will be the scene of the Bard College Auction Saturday, June 21. Viewing will be from 8 a.m. and sales will start at 10:30 under a tent outside the main entrance. Cal Smith of Pleasant Valley will auction furniture, paintings, prints, and decorative objects.

Many pieces to be auctioned came with Schuyler House when it was given to the college in 1961 by Mrs. Malcolm Smith and Mrs. William Hoffman of New York City. Others come from the President's House, from storage, or were donated specifically for the auction by Trustees, faculty, and friends of the College.

Schuyler House, located eight miles from the campus, has been used as a dormitory but is now for sale.

The furniture for sale includes antiques as well as reproductions in many styles. There are a large number of old and modern paintings, prints, and watercolors, as well as empty picture frames, and a good collection of china and bric-a-brac; it will be a sale with something for everybody.

Refreshments will be available to benefit the Muriel DeGre Scholarship Fund at the college.

Upswing Trend in Small Appliance Repairs

Summer Course In Literature

A three-credit course entitled Contemporary Literature (ENG 207) is being offered at Ulster County Community College during its Summer Sessions.

Students will study and learn to understand and appreciate contemporary international literature. Participants will read, discuss and write about the various international and American ethnic writers. Four types of literature exemplified in the works of major 20th century writers will be covered: short stories, poems, plays and novels.

In addition to the readings, three international films will be shown. The films include: a Japanese film, "Woman in the Dunes;" "Come Back Africa," an African film; "The Kitchen," from Great Britain; and a Russian Russian film, "The Overcoat."

The classes will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9:40 p.m. on the Stone Ridge campus. The eight-week course, which begins on June 23, will be taught by Fernando Valdivia.

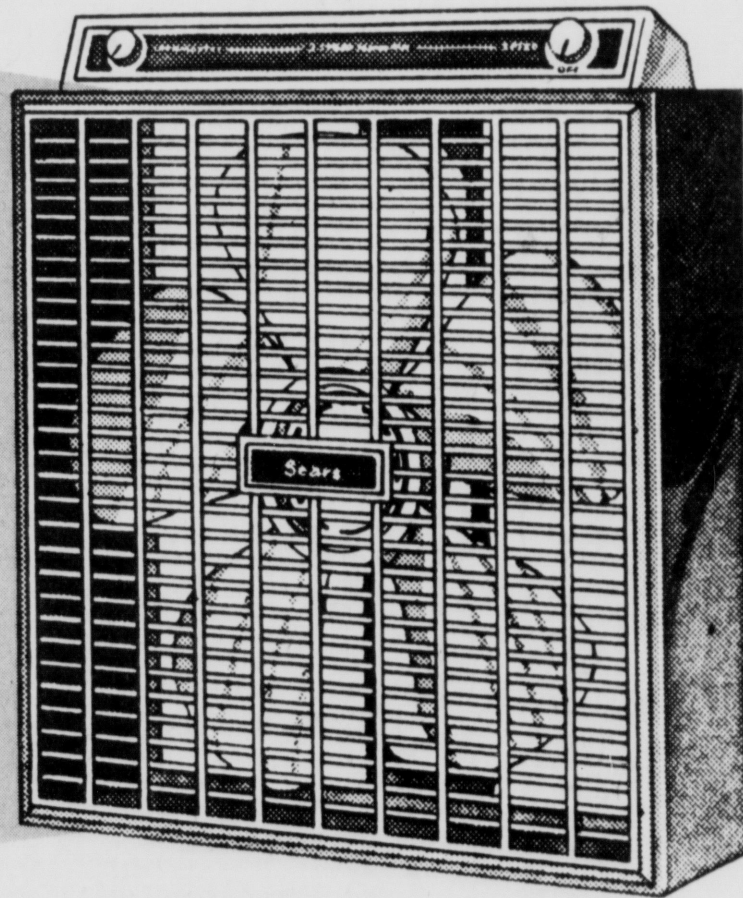

Valdivia is an Assistant Professor of English on the UCCC staff since 1966. He is a resident of Woodstock, and has had a number of poems and articles published, including one on how audio visual aids can be used to make Shakespeare more palatable to students. In addition, a play, entitled "The Levitate," won first prize in the Fourth Annual Religious Video-Drama Competition sponsored by the Cooperative Broadcast Ministry of Connecticut, in cooperating with Connecticut Public Television. Mr. Valdivia, who holds a master's degree from the University of Connecticut has interest in photography and mysticism. He has previously taught Mysticism at UCCC.

Registration will be held on the Stone Ridge campus on Friday, June 20 from 9 until noon and from 7 until 9 p.m. Further information is available from the Continuing Education Office.

Garden Club Holds 51st Annual Flower Show

Flower Show Winners and Directors

Two of the winners in the 51st annual Standard Flower Show sponsored by the Saugerties Society of Little Gardens are shown with the show directors. In photo, (L) are Mrs. Robert Freer, show director; Mrs. Michael Mattia, winner of the Horticultural Excellence Award, potted plant, maranta; Mrs. Frank Greco, winner of the artistic tri-color award arrangement, Morning Dew and Horticulture Sectional Award of Merit, specimen rose, Americana; Mrs. William Waldele, show director and Mr. Gordon Kelley, club president.

A bright sunny sky and pleasant temperatures greeted the more than 150 persons who came to view the 51st Annual Standard Flower Show, "A Country Garden," presented by the Saugerties Society of Little Gardens on Wednesday, June 11 at the United Methodist Church.

One of the highlights was the record number of 61 Junior exhibits of artistic arrangements and horticulture, with the Junior Achievement Awards going to Mary Stevens for her artistic arrangement in a seashell, and Maureen Grono for her plant growing in a clear container, showing root growth.

The Award of Horticultural Excellence was won by Mrs. Michael Mattia for her potted Maranta plant.

Mrs. Frank Greco won both the Artistic Design Tri-Color award for her "Morning Dew" arrangement and also the Sectional Award of Merit for Roses with her specimen Hybrid Tea "Americana."

The Creativity award in Artistic Design was won by Mrs. Frank Race for her arrangement, "Birds in the Garden."

Mrs. Brendan Dooley was given the Sweepstakes Award in Horticulture for most Blue ribbons won in that division.

Abruzzis Earn MS Degrees

The School of Health Sciences of Hunter College in New York City had graduation ceremonies for 60 graduates Thursday, June 5 at Madison Square Garden, and bestowed a Master of Science degree in Community Health Education to both Dr. and Mrs. William Abruzzi of the New Paltz area.

This special course which began in the fall of 1970, is in the area of preventive medicine and is headed by Dr. Gilbert Schimmel. The school graduates only 60 persons per year, and is only one of seven schools in the country, outside of public health, that is accredited by the American Public Health Association. Its purpose is to train people to work in agencies dealing directly with the community in an attempt to educate the community towards its goal of preventing disease and maintaining health. Its graduates are employed in health departments, community mental health agencies, immunization programs, planned parenthood, among many others.

Sale to Benefit Stockade Concerts

A sidewalk and yard sale for the benefit of Stockade Concerts Group is planned for Saturday from noon to 6 p.m. at Old Dutch Church, corner Wall and Main Streets. Lawnmowers, lawn chairs, bicycles, lamps, dishes, clothing, furniture and miscellaneous articles will be among the many items available.

Appearing in the Performing Arts of Woodstock production, 'Don Juan in Hell', are (top) Paul Cooper, The Statue and director; bottom row with Sara Mulligan are Chet London (L) and Jasper Oddo.

PAW to Offer Shaw's Classic 'Don Juan in Hell'

At the time George Bernard Shaw wrote "Man and Superman," it created such controversy and was so radical that it was placed in private subscription clubs so that the censor would have no power over the 1905 production.

Despite the underground approach to this production, it played continuously to packed houses — both here in America and in England.

For three weeks, starting this weekend, the Performing Arts of Woodstock will offer the third act of Shaw's great play, the classic "DON JUAN IN HELL," as a dramatic reading.

The classic entertainment of Shaw requires an acting technique of the highest order and the PAW meets that requirement to the utmost by presenting an unusually skilled company.

The cast includes such stalwarts of the boards as:

Chet London, in the role of Don Juan, brings 14 years of off-Broadway, Broadway and stock experience. Audiences will remember his outstanding portrayal of Undershaft in PAW's "Major Barbara."

A favorite with Woodstock audiences, Sara Mulligan, in the role of Dona Ana, studied drama in New York City and has been active in the theater for some 20 years. She was last seen in the award-winning PAW production "Bricks."

Others in the company include Jasper Oddo, as the devil; Paul Cooper, director and statue, a well-known director throughout the state, who recently finished directing Faust for the Mid-Hudson Opera Co.

Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell" will be staged at Christ's Lutheran Church in Woodstock Friday, Saturday, Sunday, June 20-21-22; the following weekend June 27-28-29 and on July 5 and 6.

All performances will start at 8 p.m. Tickets may be obtained at the door or by calling the Performing Arts of Woodstock office, 71 Witch Tree Road.

'Bedtime Story' Slated

In keeping with its concept of taking theatre to people, the Woodstock Players will present its popular production of Sean O'Casey's "Bedtime Story" for the patients at Hudson River Psychiatric Center in Poughkeepsie on Friday evening, in cooperation with the Volunteer Services Department.

Directed by Gladys B. Russell, "Bedtime Story" stars Joan Shulich, Steve Weinberg, Nick Ferrari and Rochelle Parker Haas. Steven Cohen will entertain on the accom-

Benefit Jazz and Ragtime Concert

"C'MON AND HEAR!"

That's the theme of a unique event, the Jazz and Ragtime Concert featuring the "Last Chance Jazz Band" on Sunday, July 6, at the Dutchess County Fairgrounds, Rhinebeck, to benefit the Northern Dutchess Hospital. The public is invited to attend the concert which will be held 3-6 p.m., rain or shine.

entertained by one of our area's finest musical bands, but will also be treated to a journey of nostalgia with some of the most beloved musical stylings of our country's history, featuring famous composers such as George M. Cohan, Stephen Foster, George Gershwin and Scott Joplin.

The Last Chance Band has performed extensively bers, and songfests, with many crowd-pleasing musical and sound effects.

Members of the band include: John Windhurst, trumpet, who has played with such musical greats as Louis Armstrong, Eddie Condon, Bobby Hackett and Dizzy Gillespie; "Doc" Charles Hoyt, piano, who is also a professor of English at Bennett College.

Family entertainment by one of the area's finest musical bands. Patrons will be treated to a journey of nostalgia with some of the most beloved musical stylings of our country's history.

Sander Heyman, development director at the hospital, is coordinating the event, which also is sponsored by the Rotary Club of Rhinebeck, with all proceeds slated to benefit the hospital's newly modernized Coronary Care and Intensive Care Units.

"This is entertainment the whole family can enjoy," said Heyman. "Those who attend will not only be throughout the area since 1966 and uses a wide variety of musical instruments in its performance including: cornet, trumpet, alto sax, clarinet, soprano sax, orchestra bells, piano, 6-string guitar, 12-string guitar, plectrum banjo, five-string banjo, tenor guitar, string bass, electric bass, drums, washboard, bongos, mandolin, and trombone. The group performs in individual num-

Millbrook, and who has worked with many famous jazz musicians such as Gene Krupa, Eddie Condon and Eddie Hubble, with his piano stylings ranging from classical to ragtime; Harry Plover, lead vocal and banjo with musical affiliations with Don McLean, Pete Seeger, Peter Yarrow, Lionel Hampton, Roger Fay, vocals and lead banjo; Jimmy Leary, drums; John Moran, bass, Steve Yokum, trombone and Mike Chiriatti, saxophone.

"We think everyone will want to attend this great holiday weekend entertainment," Heyman added. Tickets may be purchased at the hospital switchboard in the main lobby; at the United Smoke Shop, 2 East Market Street, Rhinebeck; from any Rotary Club of Rhinebeck member and from members of the Northern Dutchess Hospital Auxiliary. General admission patron reserved seats are available. Parking is free and refreshments will be available.

WAIT Organization Plans 'Bicentennial Hop'

Members of WAIT (We Are Involved Too) are planning a "Bicentennial Hop" in keeping with the historic theme. The program is scheduled for July 5 at 8 p.m. and will be given at the residence of Mrs. Barbara Lockhart, Richard's Farm, River Road, Port Ewen.

Proceeds will be used for the organization's "Send a Kid to Camp Fund." The Hop is open to the public and those attending are asked to join in the fun by wearing costumes representing various periods in history. Tickets are available from members and Mrs. Alberta Parker, president, of Kingston, along with Mrs. Alberta Parker, publicity chairman, Kingston.

WAIT is a civic organization with membership open to those interested in the improvement of the community. Organizational projects include senior citizens, Heart Association Screening Program, and Children's Rehabilitation Center.

Program of Free Films Sunday

Orange Blossoms and Rice for Radiant Brides

Hart-Propser

Cynthia LuAnne Hart of Saugerties and Gregory Earl Proper of Saugerties and Norfolk, Va., were married at Saugerties United Methodist Church. The Rev. Lauren York officiated at the ceremony. Richard Cressman, organist, provided wedding selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elbe Kendall of 1 Garden Circle, Saugerties, and Robert Hart of Marion, Ohio. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Proper of Blue Mountain Road, Saugerties.

The bride chose a gown of white satepeau styled with lantern sleeves and high collar accented with Cluny lace.

Mrs. Brenda Proper of Kingston served as matron of honor. Attendant was Mrs. Doreen Proper of Saugerties.

Steven Proper of Kingston was best man. Usher was Donald Brott of Lake Katrine, and Alan Proper of Saugerties served as escort.

A reception was given at Flamingo Restaurant, Saugerties.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Saugerties High School. The bridegroom, a 1969 alumnus of Bacon Academy High School, Colchester, Conn., is serving in the U.S. Navy, stationed at Norfolk, Va.

Bruno-Cahill

Miss Veronica Mary Bruno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Bruno of 46 Summer Street, Kingston, wed Kevin Andrew Cahill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cahill of 157 Bruyn Avenue, Kingston, in St. Mary's Church. Officiating was the Rev. James W. Derrenbacher.

The bride was attended by Miss Marguerite Brown of Kingston as maid of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Patricia Bruno, sister-in-law of the bride, matron of honor; Elizabeth Cahill, sister of the bridegroom, Reine Samuels, attendants. Kara Komosa was flower girl. She is the bridegroom's cousin. All reside in Kingston.

Timothy Lanigan of Ulster Park was best man. Joseph Bruno of Kingston, brother of the bride, was usher along with Charles Piratzky of Raleigh, N.C., Donald Wenzel of Kingston. David Cahill, the bridegroom's nephew, was ringbearer.

Music for the occasion was provided by Robert Moore, organist, and Timothy Scherer, soloist.

A reception was given in The Hedges, West Park.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is now attending SUNY at New Paltz where she is majoring in Spanish.

The bridegroom is a 1973 graduate of Kingston High School and is also attending SUNY at New Paltz. He is majoring in Political Science.

For her wedding, the bride wore her mother's heirloom gown of pale ecru duchess satin with attached cathedral length train, an arrangement of fresh flowers in her hair to which was attached a fingertip length mantilla. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Mr. and Mrs. Cahill will be residing in New Paltz.

MRS. RICHARD BURCH

(Lakeside Studio)

Underhill-Burch Vows Exchanged

Miss Rebecca Underhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Underhill Jr., of 116 Elm Street, Saugerties, wed Richard Burch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burch, Saugerties. The ceremony took place in St. Mary of Snow Church, Saugerties.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Joseph Hamilton of St. Mary's and St. Andrew's Church of Ellenville. Also officiating was the Rev. John F. Imhoff of First Congregational Church of Saugerties. Mrs. Perry Bunyar was organist for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of organza and heirloom satin, silk illusion veil with semi-camelot cap and carried white carnations and yellow roses.

Mrs. Robert Naccarato of Saugerties, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Other attendants included Mrs. Karen Legg, Mrs. Dawn Marchuk, and Miss Sue Burch of Saugerties, both sisters of the bridegroom and Miss Betsy Holden, all of Saugerties.

Rudi Legg of Saugerties, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ron Marchuk of Saugerties, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Bob Naccarato of Saugerties, brother-in-law of the bride, Bill Cooper of Saugerties and Michael Ferrindino of Kingston served as ushers.

A reception was given at the Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9W, Saugerties.

Mr. and Mrs. Burch were graduated from Saugerties High School. Mr. Burch is employed by the Tissue Printing Company of Katsbaan.

Mr. and Mrs. Burch will be at home at 34 Jane Street, Saugerties.

Maloney-Ahrens

Exchanging marriage vows in the Atonement Lutheran Church in Saugerties were Doreen Lucille Maloney of Mt. Marion and Steve Ahrens, also of Mt. Marion.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Maloney of 38 Country Club Drive, Mt. Marion. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ahrens, also of Mt. Marion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory chiffon, victorian styling, a headpiece of matching lace with pearls and sequin trim and a silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade of blue carnations, white daisies and baby's breath.

Attending the bride as her maid of honor was Bernadette O'Connell. Best man was John Ahrens, brother of the bridegroom.

A reception was given in the High Woods Sports Club in Saugerties.

Mrs. Ahrens attended Saugerties High School and is employed at Howard Johnson's in Saugerties. Her husband is an alumnus of Saugerties High and is employed by Colao Construction.

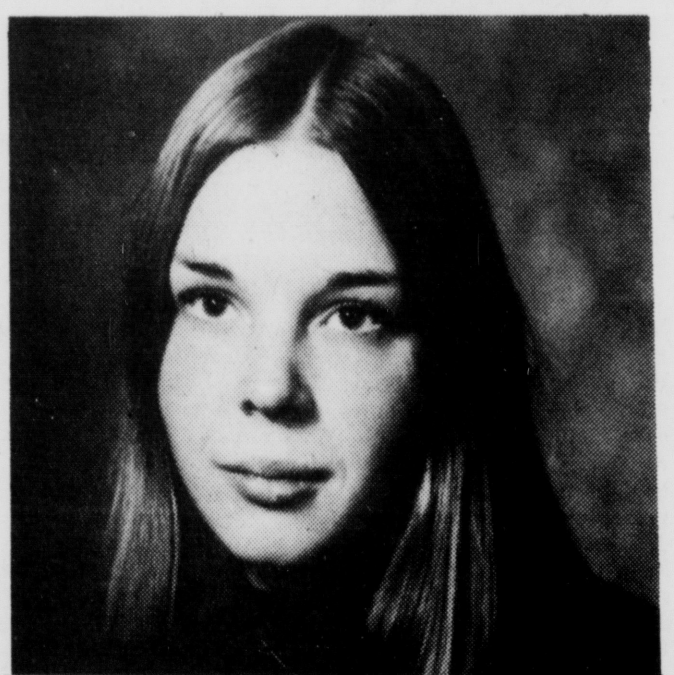

July Wedding Date Is Set

Mrs. Nancy Keyes-Crosby of 9 Austin Avenue, Saugerties, announces the engagement of her daughter, Nancy Jane Crosby, to Frederick L. Hildebrandt II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Hildebrandt of 204 Market Street, Saugerties. Miss Crosby is also the daughter of William J. Crosby of Phoenixia.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Saugerties High School, class of 1973, has been attending Ulster County Community College.

Her fiancé, a 1964 alumnus of Saugerties High School, was graduated from Husson College, Bangor, Me., in 1968. He is employed by the Department of Finance, State of Delaware in Dover, Del.

A July 12 wedding is planned.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
1975 by Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have a dear wife who uses "you know" in every sentence. In fact, it is not uncommon for her to put "you know" into a sentence three or four times.

I am sure she doesn't realize how terrible this sounds, or she would try to get out of the habit. I mentioned it to her once, and she acted very hurt; she also didn't stop saying "you know," so I never mentioned it again.

Her "you knows" have started to drive me up a wall. Any suggestions?
HER HUSBAND (YOU KNOW)

DEAR HUSBAND: If she wants to get out of the habit, you should say (with her permission), "Yes dear, I know," every time she says, "you know." She will then realize how much she uses that monotonous and superfluous phrase.

If she doesn't want to drop it, either tune her out or make yourself comfortable up on the wall, where she will surely drive you.

DEAR ABBY: My brother and his wife, who had been married 10 years and have four children, got a divorce by mutual agreement.

The wife remarried a month later, and my brother got married two months. Both married divorced persons.

My mother has seven children and 33 grandchildren, and nothing like this has ever happened in her family. She is heartbroken. Now that they both have remarried she does not want to meet the new spouses. She says that it may be legal as far as the state goes, but not with her!

She still considers her first daughter-in-law her son's only wife — divorce or no divorce. And she wants the first wife to visit as always with her children, but without her new husband. She says she won't have her son and his new wife sleeping together in her house (they all live out of state) and the same goes for the first daughter-in-law and her husband.

In other words, she doesn't recognize their divorce and remarriage. "Visit me," she says, "but do your sleeping with your new spouses elsewhere."

What do you say, Abby?

SISTER
DEAR SISTER: Your mother has a right to her own opinions, but whether she wants to recognize the second marriages or not, they are still valid, according to civil law.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are supposedly mature adults in our 40s. We have been married five years. At least five nights a week, his mother telephones when we are eating our evening meal (always between 5:30 and 6). She asks my husband what he's doing, and he says, "Just messing around." So I sit and eat alone while he makes small talk with his mother and sometimes his father, too.

Last night his whole dinner got cold because he was on the phone, and I really exploded.

Abby, his parents don't go anywhere in the evening, and they could just as well call an hour later. Or he could say he's having dinner and call them back when he's finished.

I would appreciate your opinion on this matter.

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: It would be a small matter for your husband to ask his parents to call after 6. And if he doesn't, why don't you?

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069.

MARTIN KELLY
Elects Officers

Martin Kelly was elected president of the Mid-Hudson Rose Society at the organization's annual meeting held recently.

Kelly, a teacher in the Rondout Middle School, grows more than 100 rose plants in his garden in High Falls. He is a consulting Rosarian of the American Rose Society and has won a number of trophies at New York District and local rose shows in the state. He is general chairman of the upcoming second annual Rose show of Mid-Hudson Rose Society to be held at the Inter-County Savings Bank, 29 Main Street, New Paltz Sunday, June 22.

Elected also were Robert Keagle, Accord, first vice-president; James Burke, Woodstock, second vice-president; Mrs. Barbara Castro, Kingston, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Martin Kelly, High Falls, recording secretary and Mrs. Olivier Otto, treasurer.

Kelly, speaking of the Rose Show on June 22, has invited anyone who grows roses to bring his blooms to the Inter-County Savings Bank before 10 a.m. that day. Many ribbons, prizes and silver trophies will be awarded for excellence of blooms. There is no charge for entries or for admission to the Show which will be 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

only 3 to a customer

The Mack Drug Company is pleased to announce the creation of the Senior Citizens Club. The Club was designed exclusively to make life a little easier and more comfortable for people in their golden years.

Just look what the Club offers:

1. Special consideration on prescriptions.
2. Discounts on all Mack's brand health & beauty aids.
3. Discounts on all convalescent aids.
4. Special considerations for Club members only.

SENIOR CITIZENS CLUB

Card No. _____ Date _____

To become a member of this select group, fill out the application at the bottom of this ad and return it to the pharmacy department of the Mack Drug Store nearest you. Better yet, bring it along on your next shopping visit. Or, you can even pick up an application in any Mack store at the Club display. The application will be processed and your membership card will be sent to you by return mail.

Once you have your membership card, you're in business.

There are no gimmicks. No tricks. Mack's doesn't do business that way.

Here's all you do as a Senior Citizens Club member. At any one of our stores — your card is good throughout the Mack chain of drug stores — make your selections first. Show your card and then you'll see how much your card means at Mack's. But please remember, you must be prepared to show the card at that time.

Come on in. Join the Club. Be exclusive. You've earned it.

JOHN P. MOHR

Guest Speaker At KHS

KINGSTON
John P. Mohr, a Kingston High alumnus who recently retired as Assistant Director of the FBI, will be guest speaker at the Kingston High commencement June 24.

The 8 p.m. ceremony will be held in Dietz Stadium. In case of rain, it will be staged at the New York State Armory on Manor Avenue.

Mohr, while at Kingston High, starred as the captain of the football team and for three years was All-Hudson Valley center. He continued playing football at American University, and distinguished himself scholastically receiving top honors at Columbus University Law School in Washington, D.C.

His FBI career spanned the years from 1939 to 1972. Mohr resides in Arlington, Va.

RHINEBECK

Graduation ceremonies for Rhinebeck High School are scheduled for 2 p.m. June 21, on the high school grounds, with indoor gymnasium ceremonies slated in the event of rain.

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. will present the graduation address. The valedictory will be given by Ralph Stuart III and the salutatory by Joy Paydon.

Baccalaureate services will take place at the Dutch Reformed Church at 7:30 p.m., June 20.

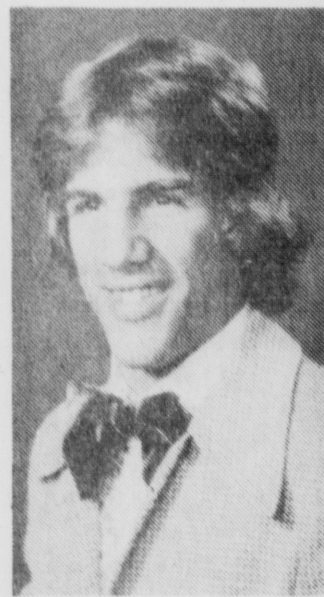

Student Speakers

RED HOOK

Red Hook High School will continue its policy of presenting four student addresses at its 69th commencement at 3 p.m., June 22.

Students speaking will be salutatorian Drew Fieri; Ann Kelley, president of the student council; Mary Harrington, class president; and valedictorian Diane Sevigny.

Baccalaureate services will be held in the Red Hook High gymnasium at 8 p.m., June 21 with Father Theodore J. Shulz to deliver the address entitled "To Be Alive in '75."

JAMES R. MERRIKEN

Named To Point

RED HOOK

James R. Merriken, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Merriken of Spencer Drive, Red Hook, has been appointed to the United States Military Academy at West Point, where he begins training July 7.

Merriken, who will be graduated from Red Hook High School this month, is a member of the National Honor Society and has received the Lions Club trophy for Athlete of the Year of the Class of 1975 for the third straight year, and also received the William Barringer Memorial Award for outstanding athlete of 1974.

Barringer was named football Player of the Year by the Daily Freeman and also was named Player of the Year for the Tri-County area.

Proportionate Free Rebates On Whatever Amount You Buy!

Getting greater value for your money is the best way to whip the dickens out of inflation, and nobody knows more about forcing prices DOWN and value UP than Standard. We've been doing it a long time. As a special feature of our 74th Anniversary Sale, we're going to set the whole inflation business on its ear, by giving away thousands of dollars worth of beautiful merchandise. Not "gifts"... Not specially purchased bonuses... BUT YOUR CHOICE OF ANYTHING IN OUR STORE! EVERY DOLLAR YOU INVEST IN YOUR HOME, DURING THIS SALE, GIVES YOU A FULL 20% REBATE IN EXTRA FREE MERCHANDISE OF YOUR CHOICE!

THINK WHAT THAT CAN MEAN in adding extra beauty, comfort, style, and value to your home! You can buy a $300 sofa, for example, then point to any $60 items (or combination of items) in our store and get it FREE. It's a glorious opportunity to get the accessories you want FREE. The lamps, the pictures, chairs, occasional tables or other outstanding items that contribute so much to making a room sing with beauty and distinction.

OF COURSE, YOU CAN APPLY YOUR 20% REBATE against any BIG item, too. Buy a $500 bedroom suite, then apply your 20% REBATE ($100) against the super-size bedding you want. Pick the finest sleep set we have or the most economical... IT'S YOUR CHOICE! Either way you multiply the value of your money, and the satisfactions and benefits you want from such an important purchase.

WE CAN'T OFTEN GIVE MERCHANDISE AWAY, so act now. No limitation on what you spend. No restrictions on what additional merchandise you choose with your 20% REBATE. The more you buy, the more you get — FREE!

It Will Be a Wet U.S. Open at Medinah

MEDINAH, Ill. (UPI) — There'll be a "cram course" on Medinah's No. 3 golf course today for the 150 contestants who'll begin the diamond anniversary U.S. Open Thursday.

Repeated rains since last Friday have soaked the 7,032-yard par 71 golf course, forcing officials to close it Sunday and Tuesday and depriving the players of a chance to familiarize themselves with the layout.

Tuesday, with 142 of the 150 eligible players on hand, the course was open for barely an hour before drenching rains, plus tornado warnings, sent them running for cover.

"Every green I saw was under water," Gary Player said. He had to walk into the clubhouse before he reached the first green due to the rain. Nobody played more than six holes and some didn't get on the course at all.

Thus today will be crucial for everybody for strategic planning and particularly how to attack a waterlogged layout. Rain was forecast to continue at least part of today and possibly in the morning Thursday.

Clearing skies and a mild heat wave were anticipated Friday, possibly drying out the course quickly and forcing the contestants to change their style of play in the second round to try to stay even with par or better it.

Johnny Miller, a one-time Open winner and one of the favorites, was one of the few who were carefree about the enforced idleness.

"Practice doesn't mean beans to me," he said. "I went over the course three or four weeks ago and that helped. One day of seeing it now and I'm ready to go."

"I'd rather see it three days, but don't count me out because I only see it one day. I'm using new clubs and I've finished fourth and second in two tournaments with them. I'm driving longer, but I'm erratic. I'm just trying to hit it in the fairway. My irons are very good right now. I'm raring to go."

Lee Trevino, who played the course about two weeks ago, said he believed one round would be enough for him to

"I think my game is suited to this course," he said. "It's a very fair golf course. You have to think on every shot, and some people have told me that I think."

Defending champion Hale Irwin believed he, too, would be ready despite the limited practice.

"I've always played well on difficult courses, and this is a very difficult course," he said. "It's very wet now, so the greens are holding, but some of those holes out there are going to be extremely difficult for everybody. I'm just going to try to squeak by some of them without killing myself."

Player recalled that "in 1962, I played in the Western Open here and I was leading by five going into the last day and shot a 77 and Jackie Cupit won."

"I don't remember much about the course and I haven't had a good look at it yet," he said. "That makes it tougher, but if I can play today, that'll be all right." Pickup n719 for story ending.

The prospect of playing a wet course changed the opinion of most of the players who thought par 284 for the 72 holes would win.

"If it stays wet, I think the winning score will be three or four under par," Trevino said. "You'll lose distance off the tee and it'll be harder to come out of the rough, but the greens will hold. If it dries out, it'll be easier to get out of the rough but harder to stay on the greens."

Deprived of the opportunity to play, most of the field tested the putting greens and the driving range between rain showers. And most of their activity came after the course had been closed when the rains stopped and the sun came out.

With only one practice day remaining before the shots count toward the championship, it was certain everyone would be out today and work as late as possible to check out every club in their bag.

Bucks Turned Down Large Knick Offer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Knicks offered more than $1 million in cash, Walt Frazier and two other players to Milwaukee for Kareem Abdul-Jabbar before the Bucks traded their big center to the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Knicks' offer, UPI learned Tuesday, also included Phil Jackson and John Gianelli.

"The Knicks had no untouchables," said Milwaukee vice president Wayne Embry.

"They told us we could have anybody on the team. Eddie Donovan (Knicks' general manager) said he would even try to get any player from any other team the Bucks wanted. "But the chemistry just wasn't right. We didn't want anybody the Knicks already had. That's not to say they don't have talent. But we wanted to rebuild with younger players."

Donovan denied that he mentioned any "big" names to the Bucks, insisting that "we spoke in generalities."

Herrmann Saved, But Sparky Didn't

NEW YORK (UPI) — Agony turned into ecstasy for the New York Yankees Tuesday night when one of General Manager Gabe Paul's more recent acquisitions, Ed Herrmann, became a savior. But the man who's supposed to be a savior, Sparky Lyle, continued to have his woes.

Herrmann, purchased from the Chicago White Sox earlier in the season, slammed a two-out, two-run ninth inning homer to climax a three-run uprising that gave the Yankees a 4-2 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers and a split of their doubleheader.

Lyle, one of the league's top relief pitchers in recent years who's having a disappointing season, once more failed to protect a lead. He was called into action with a 3-2 lead in the eighth inning of the opener but yielded two runs with the help of an error by another disappointing Yankee, shortstop Jim Mason.

The Yankees lost the opener 4-3 when Mason dropped an infield popup with runners on first and third in the eighth inning. His key miscue occurred after the Brewers tied the game 3-3 against Lyle on back-to-back singles by Kurt promoted from Syracuse where he led the International League in RBIs, led off for New York with a single. Thurman Munson beat out a bunt single and Chris Chambliss grounded into a double play, moving Whitfield shut out to that point by Larry Gura. They trailed 1-0 when with one out, Bevacqua reached on a bunt single and moved to second on a single by Thomas, which brought in Tidrow.

Bevacqua and Gorman Thomas, a forceout by Robin Yount and an RBI single by Sixto Lezcano, who had three hits. George Scott then popped the ball behind short and Mason dropped it, enabling Yount to score what proved to be the winning run.

The Yankees trailed 2-1 going into the nightcap's ninth when Terry Whitfield, recently to third. Graig Nettles then laced a run-scoring single, tying the score at 2-2, and Herrmann followed with the game-winning homer off loser Jim Colborn (2-5) just inside the rightfield foul line.

Dick Tidrow (4-0) gained the victory in relief, his second in two nights.

The Brewers had gone ahead 2-1 in the eighth after being League, Oakland swept a doubleheader from Minnesota, 4-2, and 8-7; Chicago routed Texas, 13-3; Boston nipped Detroit, 7-6; Kansas City defeated California, 3-2; and Baltimore edged Cleveland, 5-3.

Reggie Jackson cracked a 422-foot homer and a double in the first game with Vida Blue striking out seven to gain his 10th win of the season. In the nightcap, Gene Tenace's three-run double highlighted an Oakland eight-run inning. Ken Holtzman, who was tagged by Larry Hise's three-run homer, won his sixth game.

Deron Johnson's three-run homer in the first inning ignited a 16-hit Chicago attack as the Sox behind Jim Katt routed Texas.

Juan Beniquez' eight inning homer proved to be decisive for Boston in its win over Detroit. Rico Petrocelli also contributed a two-run double to the Red Sox attack.

Shortstop Orlando Ramirez' two errors opened the gates for a three-run first inning which allowed Kansas City to defeat California.

Elrod Hendricks, who entered the game hitting just .135, drove in three runs and Mike Cuellar, with relief help from Doyle Alexander, won his first game since May 31 as Baltimore downed Cleveland.

Carl Morton tamed the Reds on three hits and Dave May belted a grand slam homer as the Braves topped Cincinnati. Gary Nolan (7-4) was the loser.

Rookie left-hander Pete Falcone scattered seven hits and San Francisco, breaking a six-game loss streak, scored what proved to be the decisive runs against San Diego in a two-run sixth on a double by Andy Messersmith hurled a four-hitter and Ron Cey slammed a three-run homer as Los Angeles beat Houston to creep to within 2½ games of front-running Cincinnati in the National League West. Steve Yeager also homered for the Dodgers.

In other National League games, the Cubs beat Philadelphia, 9-5; St. Louis stopped Pittsburgh, 7-4; Atlanta downed Cincinnati, 5-1; Los Angeles bested Houston, 6-1; and San Francisco put away San Diego, 3-1.

Jerry Morales doubled in a pair of runs during a six-run fifth inning barrage and Manny Trillo banged out three hits as the Cubs overpowered the Phillies.

Matlack dropped his fifth game in 13 decisions.

Rusty Staub drove in three of the Mets' runs in the opener, which saw the Mets go ahead 4-0 in the first inning against Don Stanhouse, who made his first mound appearance as an Expo. Another rookie, Larry Parrish, also homered for Montreal with nobody on in the fourth inning of the first game.

In the nightcap, the Mets had come back from a 2-0 deficit to tie the score in the seventh inning when pinch-hitter Jesus Alou singled home two runs. Phillips' triple in the 11th drove home what proved to be the winning run and Wayne Garrett drove home two insurance runs in the same inning. Pepe Manguel had a solo homer for Montreal in the third inning.

Coaches Warn Of Doom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A group of college football coaches is urging Congress to overturn proposed new rules that would give female athletes an equal opportunity in sports.

Unless Congress comes to the rescue by rejecting the rules, they told a House hearing Tuesday, all intercollegiate sports will be killed off because there just isn't enough money to go around.

The gloomy forecast was delivered by Darrell Royal, head coach of at Texas and president of the American Football Coaches Association.

"I can't see that they will do anything but eliminate, kill or seriously weaken the programs we now have in existence," Royal said of the rules, proposed this month by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. "I'm not opposed to women's intercollegiate athletics. But we're going to be so drained and so weakened there won't be enough money to continue."

The proposed HEW rules—which would require equal treatment of females at all schools, kindergarten through college, that receive federal funds—will go into effect in mid-July unless rejected by Congress.

In sports, they would mean women must be given equal opportunity in coaching, equipment, facilities and so forth that men now enjoy. Equal spending, however, would not be required.

Royal and his colleagues, appearing before a House education subcommittee that is examining the new rules to see if they conform to antisex-bias laws, charged that HEW is trying to "place intercollegiate athletics under the control of the federal government."

They said sports receive no federal funds and thus should be exempt. Courts, however, have held that athletics are part of a school's overall educational program and so are subject to equal opportunity requirements.

The problem, according to the coaches, is that intercollegiate sports now are self-supporting—relying on revenues from fan-drawing football and basketball to carry the costs of less popular sports.

To divert money to women's programs, Royal said, would cause men's sports to suffer "to the point where people won't buy tickets to see them."

"This isn't going to help women; it's going to kill intercollegiate athletics, which is the source of the money," he said.

Fresh from his greatest achievement in pro basketball, Rick Barry says he wants to retire to go into television on a full-time basis. "I mean right away," Barry said, adding that if the right opportunity didn't come along he would continue playing for the NBA champion Golden State Warriors . . .

Two debt-ridden franchises — the Pittsburgh Penguins and California Seals — will be fighting for their lives today before an NHL Board of Governors apparently ready to dissolve them. NHL President Clarence Campbell said Tuesday that the Governors were not prepared to relocate or put up the funds to bail out either the Oakland-based Seals or the Penguins . . .

Neeley, the new baseball coach, "is a good man," said Hurley. "He's had tremendous success on the JV level."

Chaisson had been soccer coach at the Miller Junior High (he inaugurated the program there) and comes to KHS with the recommendation of some of the area's top soccer experts.

In addition, Ed Mills has been named to fill Neeley's JV baseball job and Kevin Harney will move into Tomson's vacated spot as assistant track and field coach. Tom Sartori remains as JV soccer coach.

Tomson had done an admirable job as Short's track and field assistant.

The varsity openings were created by the resignations of Ron Cole (baseball), John Hunter (soccer), and Dean Short (track and field).

"I'm always in favor of all the help you can get," he said. "But right now my priorities are in terms of additional programs with the money we have. For instance we are investigating winter track, the girls programs, and the junior high areas.

Cole left his post because of a desire to spend more time with his family and because of the "lack of dedication of today's athletes." Hunter expressed dissatisfaction with the Kingston school district over its refusal to hire an assistant soccer coach. Short came to concentrate on his other two sports, varsity cross country and wrestling.

"I understand John's (Hunter) position," but we checked all the schools in Section One and none have assistant soccer coaches."

Hunter will remain varsity tennis coach.

KINGSTON
Mike Conners of Keyser's blanked Rolling Acres 3-0 on four hits in the AA Division of the City Slo-Pitch League. Dan Jordan homered and knocked in two runs for the winners.

Scott Miller paced the Kessman to a 11-5 win over Wayside with a homer and four runs batted in. Scott Wilson, the losing pitcher, homered for Wayside.

Pier 7 broke a 7-7 tie with Carriage House with five runs in the top of the seventh to win, 12-7. Hobie Armstrong and Dave Lowe homered for Pier 7, Lowe knocking in seven runs.

Gene Groelle's sacrifice fly scored Jim Atlee with the winning run for Hurley Mountain as it topped The Place, 6-5.

Rei Reynolds hit a grand slam homer, two singles and knocked in four runs for Seaside in a 14-11 win over Cornville. Bob Young collected four singles for Del Norte.

And again...and again...and again...until you get it right. Which isn't so bad, come to think of it.

The way it works is like this. You take any two beers of your choice and one of our choice, Utica Club. Pour them into mugs and mix the mugs up. Or, better yet, have someone blindfold you. Just so you don't pick the beer you think you should pick.

We think you'll pick our beer. For a lot of good reasons. First of all, nothing but whole grains go into a Utica Club: choice hops, corn, choice grade malt and rice. And our beer doesn't just eat well, it drinks well. The water that goes into a Utica Club is so good it could be bottled and sold by itself. What's more, Utica Club is subjected daily to the toughest testing we know of. Ours. Because when it comes to our beer, you might say we're from the old school. We believe that if you do your homework, you'll do well in your exams.

If we do well in your exam (if you choose us over the other beers), we get a passing grade.
If you pick another beer, we fail.
And if you fail to tell the difference between our favorite beers and ours, you'll just have to take the test over again...and again...and again...until you get it right.

Perry: 2-Hitter

KYSERIKE
Paul Perry tossed a two-hitter as Fann's defeated Johnny-on-the-Spot, 9-2, in the Rondout Valley Babe Ruth League.

In another game, the Lions club edged Fann's, 8-7.

Perry struck out five JOTS batters and received offensive help from brother Randy who drove in three runs with two hits. Shawn Terwilliger was the losing pitcher.

Ken Smith and Jon Lynch each had two hits and Smith came up with a game-saving catch in the bottom of the seventh to kill a Fann's rally in the Lions Club triumph.

Scherer Hurls Shutout In Sunday Slo-Pitch

KINGSTON
Rich Scherer's four-hit 7-0 win for KPA over Laura's Trophy Shop highlighted Kingston Sunday Slo Pitch action.

In other games, Mt. Marion Inn downed Greco Brothers, 6-4; LaLima's whipped Graphic Technique, 15-1; Trailways belted J's, 19-8; Duplex stopped Spanky's, 12-7; and Imp's Roofing clubbed Ulster Protectors, 22-14.

J. L. Schatzel had a double and single and three runs batted in to power KPA to its third win against one loss.

Mt. Marion remained unbeaten in four games as Gary Brooks tripled to score Ken Hoffstatter, Ron White hit a sacrifice fly, and Mike Sass homered to produce the winning runs.

Earl Edmonds drove in five runs with a two-run double and a three-run homer as LaLima's breezed past Graphic Technique.

Bob Greenburgh homered, scored twice, and knocked in four runs to lead Trailways past J's. Jack Becker and Floyd Halwick chipped in with three hits and three runs batted in.

Gene Breitenstein drove in four runs and Bill Chaffin knocked in three for Duplex in its win over Spanky's.

Earl Mitchell drove in five runs as he, Tom Tubby, and Rich Brocco homered in the Imp's slugfest with Ulster Protectors, 22-14.

Brewers Take Three In SAA 'B' Division

SAUGERTIES
Defending Saugerties Athletic Association B Division softball champion Boo's Brewers are off and running with three straight wins at the outset of the current campaign.

The Brewers edged Village Cobbler, 9-8, beat Kaye Sports, 10-6, and tripped Sangi's Point After, 12-10, in eight innings.

Herb Whitaker hit two homers and brother Tom one in the win over the Cobblers. Herb homered again and Doug Whiteford drove in three runs against Kaye Sports. The hitting of Scott Emery helped the Brewers rally from way back to beat Sangi's.

Despite the three wins, the rest of the division served notice that it won't let Boo's run away with the title.

In other games, Sangi's downed Kaye Sports, 12-9, and West Saugerties Wizards outslugged Mark IV Printing, 17-16.

Joe Martin, who had homered against Boo's, hit another, but it wasn't enough to beat Sangi's which got a single and homer from Steve Martin and two singles and a double from Iggy Maines.

Mark IV scored eight seventh inning runs to catch and go ahead of the Wizards, and West Saugerties rallied and finally won it in the eighth. Bob Gramling and Ron Ricketson each had four hits and Bill Brown homered.

Benson Hurls AAA Shutout

KINGSTON
Pat Benson of AAA Auto Glass pitched a four-inning no-hitter, as AAA zipped Kingston Hospital, 13-0, in a Women's City Softball League stopper.

In other games, Pier Seven routed YWCA 20-3 with eight runs in the last inning and Edgars edged The Outrigger 21-20 with five runs in the bottom of the seventh.

Georgette Gantner knocked in four runs for the AAA with a single, double and homer. Ellen Tresvant (triple) and Mary Ellen Duffy collected three hits each.

Cindy Lowe collected five hits, including two doubles in the Pier Seven rout of YWCA. Georgette Dunn had two doubles and two singles. Pam Thomas stroked four hits and Pat Burke hit a pair of doubles.

Karen Lackey paced Edgars' with a pair of home runs. Barbara Bunce slammed five hits, including a homer for Outrigger, for five RBIs. Sandy Colao added four hits and five RBIs for Outrigger.

Harper Leads

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tommy Harper of the California Angels was the American League's top designated hitter in games through Monday ... but not by much.

Harper was hitting .284 in 141 at bats to lead Minnesota's Tony Oliva and Boston's Jim Rice by .001. Tommy Davis of Baltimore, the top designated hitter last season, was fourth at .256.

Mrs. Davenport, Mrs. Sayles In Northeastern Tie scores in general higher than usual.

Wiltwyck's Charlotte Kollin and Majorie Burris of Mohawk tied for the third spot with identical cards of 44, 45-88. In a three way tie for fifth were Marilyn Motzkin and Shorty Chase of Wiltwyck and Wilma Simon of Colonie.

Claire Rasso, also of Edison, won low net honors in Class B with 93-19-74. Nancy Lowe of Wiltwyck fired low gross of 46, 46-92. The Class

A low net winner was Dot Bristor of Edison who had 89-16-73.

This was the third NEWGA tournament of the season and the first win for Mrs. Davenport. When the tourney was held here last year, Mrs. Davenport shot an 83 for third place, and Mrs. Sayles had an 87 for eighth.

The winners, however, could have just as easily been runnersup but for an erratic performance by Shorty Chase. Mrs. Chase suffered through a nine on the seventh hole but still managed to make the turn in 45. She went to the 18th tee needing a par for a one-stroke victory but finished with a triple bogey.

"I choked," she said.

Mrs. Chase accounted for two of the day's rare birdies on the ninth and 12th holes.

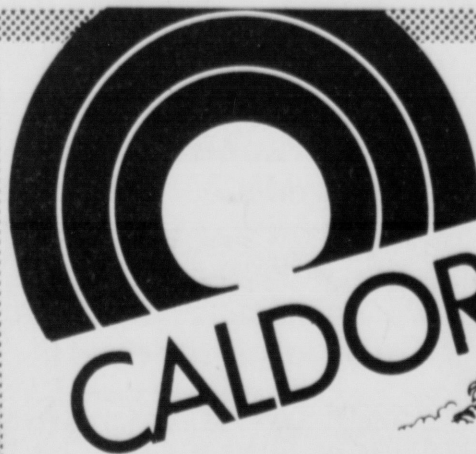

Mrs. Chase and Mrs. Kollin tied for second in the Class A Net division at 74. Mrs. Rasso trailed Mrs. Lowe by one shot in the Class B Gross division.

Hugies Dominate All-UCAL Team

KINGSTON
Ulster County Athletic League champion New Paltz High School, as expected, dominated the all-league team announced today.

The Huguenots placed three men on the first team, three on the second, and two more on the honorable mention roles. Heading the Paltz parade was pitcher Roger Plantier, cosen as first team pitcher; other NP first teamers were first baseman Wally Smith and outfielder Tim Savago.

Division II champ Rondout Valley had two first team picks: outfielder Dave Schmeltz and third baseman Todd Buswell. Division III titlist Liberty had but one player on the first team, catcher Phil Fanning, but had three on the second team.

Other first team picks were Coleman pitcher Kevin Coughlin, Wallkill second baseman Harry Collier, Highland shortstop Dave Mackey, and Pine Bush outfielder Dave Hileigal.

The second team was made up of pitchers Mackey of Highland and Mike Lofaro of Liberty; catcher Rich Snider of New Paltz; first baseman John Horn of Wallkill; second baseman Mike Beck of New Paltz; shortstop Lofaro of Liberty; third baseman Pete Ferrante of New Paltz; and outfielders Joe Schell of Coleman, Kelly Hamlin of Liberty, and Jeff Purcell of Rondout.

Plantier and Coughlin make up a formidable mound-duo. The former won all five of his league decisions with a miniscule earned run average of 0.17. The latter, a strikeout pitcher, was 4-3 with a 1.07 ERA.

Of those on the first team, Rondout's Schmeltz had the best league batting average: .452. Fanning hit .45, Buswell, .404, and Mackey .400.

Announcement of the All-UCAL team, following last week's All-DCSL team release, leaves only the Freeman's annual All-Star team to be revealed. That will come Sunday when this newspaper's sports department announces its picks of the best diamond performers in Ulster and Northern Dutchess Counties.

Kingston, Peekskill in Soccer Tie

KINGSTON Kingston and Peekskill are tied for first place after completing the first round of the Hudson Valley Soccer League schedule. Each team has two wins and a tie in five games. Rhinebeck is third and Poughkeepsie fourth.

In last week's games, Kingston downed Rhinebeck, 2-1, and Peekskill tripped Poughkeepsie, 3-1.

Bob Davis and Jimmy Reinhart were the marksmen for Kingston as it beat Rhinebeck.

Davis put Kingston ahead at the 30 minute mark of the first half while R. Reinhart scored the winner 35 minutes into the second half.

Kingston outshot Rhinebeck, 14-6. Winning goalie Joel Tomson made four saves, while Ralph Stuart stopped 12 shots in the Rhinebeck cage.

John Palumbo, Angelo Zavaglia and Hugh Palumbo were the Peekskill scorers. The Poughkeepsie goal was not reported.

This week, Poughkeepsie visits Kingston at Oehler's Mt. Lodge and Rhinebeck travels to Peekskill's Depew Park.

Team	W	L	T	P	GA
Kingston	2	0	1	5	9-6
Peekskill	2	0	1	5	8-4
Rhinebeck	1	2	0	2	3-5
Poughkeepsie	0	3	0	0	4-9

Two Water Grants

NEW YORK CITY
Two grants in Ulster County were among the 81 final water pollution cleanup permits issued recently by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Receiving permits were the Channel Master Division of Avnet Corporation, Ellenville, and the Eastern New York Correctional Facility in Napanoch.

The 1972 Water Pollution Control Act amendments established the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System to issue the cleanup permits to facilities discharging pollutants into a waterway. The permits are being issued by EPA until state plans to carry on the program are approved.

Each permit sets a limit on discharges of specific types of effluents and sets up a phased schedule for any further cleanup efforts that are needed. Failure to comply would constitute a violation for which the permit holder could be liable for prosecution by state or federal authorities.

UCCC Sign-Up Friday

STONE RIDGE
Ulster County Community College will hold registration for its Summer Session courses at the Stone Ridge campus from 10 a.m. to noon and from 7-9 p.m. on Friday, June 20. Classes begin Monday, June 23.

The college offers 14 credit courses in the six-week Day Summer Session and 34 in the eight-week Evening Summer Session.

Since UCCC is fully accredited by the Middle States Association, students have no difficulty transferring their UCCC credits to their home schools. Because it is a public-supported school, the tuition is lower than for the same courses at other schools.

For further information call 687-7621, extension 48.

New Course Set

NEW PALTZ
A three-credit workshop in semantics has been added to the schedule for the summer term at the State University College at New Paltz.

Dr. Leo Pap, who will be teaching the course, said that selected problems in verbal and nonverbal communication, as well as in the interpretation of facts, will be analyzed in depth. Equal attention will be given to theoretical and practical aspects of meaning in language and thought, he noted.

Classes are scheduled for 1:40-11:10 a.m. Monday through Thursday, June 24-Aug. 1. Because of the late addition of the course, class hours may be changed according to the desires of students, Pap noted. The actual schedule will be determined at the first class meeting June 24.

More information may be had from Pap at 255-0628 or 257-2625.

Designation For Paltz Community

NEW PALTZ
The town and village of New Paltz are among 66 newly designated Bicentennial Communities in New York State.

The Bicentennial Community program is conducted by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA) and the New York State American Revolution Bicentennial Commission (NYSARBC) to single out communities which have organized bicentennial committees and have submitted proposals detailing local bicentennial plans.

Upon approval of these plans, communities are designated and receive an official flag and scroll bearing the federal ARBA insignia.

NYSARBC officials will present official flags and scrolls upon request in all designated bicentennial communities. For more information contact NYSARBC, 99 Washington Avenue, Albany 12230.

New Laws to Protect Car Owners

By Carl Graham

SAUGERTIES
Amendments to the state insurance law protecting persons whose cars are damaged in accidents "had to be passed," according to an official of the Hudson Valley Auto Body Shop Association (HVABA).

"The industry is changing," said Charles Emanuele of Dynamic Auto Body Inc., Route 9W North. "The situation had become so bad that body shops could not do what the insurance companies required."

Emanuele serves the HVABA, a five-county trade group, as editor of its recently inaugurated news magazine.

The amendments, effective April 1, require insurers to:

- Inspect a wrecked vehicle and make an offer to the insured within seven days after notice of loss.

- Give a written estimate to the insured or his representative.

- Notify the insured of all applicable deductions within seven days.

- Give the insured "upon express request" the name of a qualified body shop at a convenient location which will do repairs at the insurer's estimated price. The shop must give written guarantees of quality and safety of work performed.

- Restore cars to pre-crash condition if the recommended shop does not perform safe repairs of good quality.

- Make the election to repair in writing, giving an estimate of time needed to repair and written guarantees for quality and safety.

- Deliver or mail to the insured within five working days proof of loss or payment.

- Settle claims within 25 days or give the insured a written explanation for the delay. Insurers with more than 20 percent of a claim unpaid after 25 days are in violation of this provision.

- Pay the reasonable cost of any estimate it requests from the insured.

- Follow these procedures even if it does not inspect the vehicle.

Emanuele said that the provision requiring insurers to furnish the names of qualified body shops "upon express request" applies only if the insured asks for them. The insured person retains the right to have the work done wherever he prefers and the insurer cannot make such information available unless the insured requests it, Emanuele explained.

The regulations also require body shops to have a signed form from the insured designating them as his representative, must have written authority to make an estimate and to make repairs, and must give the customer a signed itemized bill and show him the damaged parts. The customer may take the parts with him or sign an authorization for the body shop to dispose of them.

"This bill has been in Albany for several years," Emanuele said. HVABA, as one of 10 associations making up the Auto Body Federation of the Empire State, helped lobby for its passage. The state association, in turn, is part of a Northeastern Regional Federation which in turn is part of a national auto body association.

As a service to the motoring public, Dynamic Auto Body and other HVABA members have forms for customer use which designate the shop as the customer's representative, a requirement under the new regulations. They also have forms on which customers can file complaints to the New York State Insurance Department if they feel they have not been fairly dealt with, and a form that can be kept in the glove compartment, listing detailed instructions on what to do in case of accident. It lists and explains all things that must be done and also lists those things which the customer is not required to do.

HVABA is holding a seminar at 2 p.m. on Saturday, June 28, at the Camelot Inn in Poughkeepsie. More than 700 invitations have been sent out to auto body shops, insuring firms, and others concerned with insurance and damage. Milton Freedman, assistant general counsel for the New York State Insurance Department, the president of the Empire State Federation, and a representative of the Federal Trade Council will take part.

Emanuele's brother Joseph, who is vice president and a director of HVABA, will represent the group at the national convention to be held in Las Vegas later this month.

Bageling at Big Moe's

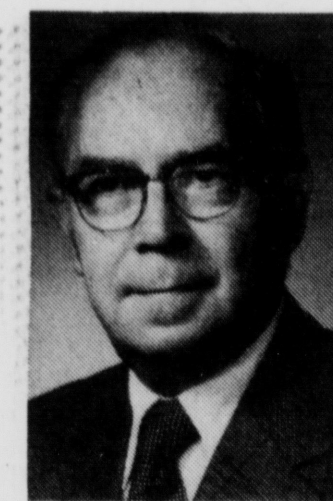

The age-old art of bagel baking — along with the The bagel bakery and emporium is located in the answer to the question "Who puts the hole in Rosendale Town Plaza on Route 32; the children are them?" — is being shown to Laura Ballanco, Laurie from the Temple Emanuel Community Nursery (Freeman photo) by Allan Herman of "Big Moe's Bagel Factory."

Banquet Time for Party Group

Friendly Home Parties, celebrating its 20th anniversary, held its annual awards banquet recently at the Holiday Inn. Chris Hoffman Jr., who presented trophies, is flanked by Lyn Vickery, Saugerties manager and Gloria Van Vliet, Kingston manager. Area dealers also receiving awards for sales were Janet Sueter, Harold and Sharon Humphrey, Gloria Genther and Sally Van Wagenen. It was announced at the banquet that the 20th anniversary catalogs will be available soon. (Freeman photo)

Customer Service Appointment

FRANK McDONALD

KINGSTON
Robert E. Dietrick, president of Hudson Valley Federal Savings and Loan Association, announced today the appointment of Frank J. McDonald as customer service representative.

McDonald will be responsible for the administration of the bank's Keogh and Individual Retirement Account programs. He will serve as a professional retirement counselor for all offices of Hudson Valley Federal Savings. Additionally, he will conduct sales technique seminars for all staff members of the bank.

McDonald recently retired from Metropolitan Life Insurance Company after 29 years of service in sales management and administration. While with Metropolitan Life he was a District Sales Manager, Field Training Supervisor, and Field Service Representative. He resides at Idlewild Park Drive, Cornwall-on-Hudson with his wife Ann.

Mr. Dietrick commented that Hudson Valley Federal Savings is the only major thrift institution in the Hudson Valley to have a person on the staff with McDonald's professional background. "It is our intention to develop staff and customer services which will be second to none in the entire area," Dietrick said.

Business News Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — Reopening of the Suez Canal could help to reduce the U.S. balance of payments deficit by cutting transportation charges and making American goods much more competitive in the Arab world and in some Asian countries. Official spokesmen for several of the Arab countries recently have urged European and American exporters to make extensive use of the canal instead of shipping around Africa or overland through the Balkans and Turkey. They said they favored the Suez route for their imports because Egypt desperately would need a rapid buildup of the canal revenues. Egypt's financial condition is a matter of deep concern to its Arab partners as well as to President Anwar Sadat.

Sadat disclosed recently he would ask President Ford for American help in paying off Egypt's enormous debt to the Soviet Union. This debt, estimated at $4 billion to $7 billion, was piled up from Soviet credits for the building of the Aswan Dam and for the huge deliveries of Soviet weapons and munitions to Egypt for the wars with Israel.

If Sadat gets the American help he hopes for, that ostensibly could put the United States in the position of helping finance both sides in the Middle East struggle while, at the same time, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is striving to bring about prolonged peace in the region.

Yet, the chance to replace the Communists in the economic scheme of things in the Arab world certainly is not without its attractions to Washington if it can be accomplished without sacrificing Israel's legitimate interests.

Strange as it may seem to those Americans who were so pessimistic only a year ago about the United States' future economic chances in the Middle East, the U.S. trade and financial position there has improved greatly despite bigger taxes and royalties levied on U.S. dominated international oil companies and the longer range threat of ultimate nationalization of the oil industry in the Arab lands. It was nationalized years ago in Iran.

In 1974, the United States had an unfavorable trade balance with the Arab countries and Iran for the first time in many years. Exports to that region were $4.3 billion. Imports of oil, the price of which had been raised so dramatically, and other products were $4.5 billion — a $200 million U.S. deficit.

Reopening Suez Will Benefit the U.S.

DA Vogt Defends Stand With Statistics

By Tim Shuster

TOWN OF ULSTER

When Ulster County District Attorney Francis Vogt announced in January that he was eliminating plea bargaining through his office, "some of my colleagues said I was nuts," he confided to the Ulster Business and Professional Association Tuesday night.

He pointed to an impressive set of trial and other statistics and said, "I think this denotes a much healthier situation all the way around."

Since the beginning of this calendar year, the DA's office has conducted 12 trials, including one time-consuming car ring case and a lengthy murder trial.

Of that number there were two hung juries and ten resulted in guilty findings. One of the hung jury cases subsequently pleaded guilty, and the other Vogt feels he may dismiss.

In all of 1974, the office tried only four cases.

To date this year, 45 felony cases have been handled, including "eight or nine Class A felonies" entailing life imprisonment. This compares to 40 handled by this time last year, with plea bargaining as it tends to portray a person and situation falsely, and because "I thought it demeaning to the entire system."

The DA also asked the Ulster BPA for support in getting five specific pieces of legislation, now in committee in Albany passed into law next session. All were recommended by the New York State District Attorney's Association.

The first would give "the people" the right to appeal "unduly lenient or ineffective sentences," as the defendant can now appeal a harsh sentence.

The second would allow a prior identification by a witness as testimony in court, from a photo, lineup, or other means, rather than the present system of having the witness point out a person in court.

The third would place the burden of proof for an insanity plea on the defense, rather than on the prosecution, said Vogt.

The fourth would change the "transactional immunity" of a person testifying before a grand jury to allow prosecution of a witness from other, independent sources. At Present, no prosecution is possible under state law of a witness, either on testimony or without.

And the fifth change Vogt favored was the reduction in age of those classified as "juveniles" from 6 to 14. He said he found "more and more difficulty with juveniles in crimes of violence," citing the murder of a Newburgh cab driver, a case tried in Ulster County Court this year, as "one of the most brutal murders I have ever seen." One defendant was 15½ years old.

Vogt prefaced his remarks on Supreme Court decisions he disliked by quoting the alcoholics creed, concluding with, "the wisdom to tell the difference." He referred to this in exclaiming he didn't expect either the "search and seizure" decision (Map vs. Ohio, 1963), or the Miranda decision on informing a defendant of his rights would soon be stricken from the books.

He said he would personally revise the search and seizure law to allow search of a motor vehicle without a warrant, but not a home, as "illegal searching by police goes on every day."

And on the Miranda decision, "the problem is that the same type of officer that will beat a confession from a defendant will get on the stand and lie about giving him his rights," thereby "penalizing honest police work."

Vogt suggested that the "Only test should be if the confession is voluntary," and said public, glass enclosed and tape recorded rooms could be provided for interrogation so a confession "can be judged on its totality."

Rondout Austerity Action Delayed

By Carl Graham

KYSERIKE
The Rondout Valley Board of Education, its $6.7 million 1975-76 budget rejected twice by voters, delayed action Tuesday night on an austerity budget that would pare district programs to state-mandated minimums.

Julian Bartle's motion to table the matter until "the first two weeks in July" came after a lengthy meeting at which more than 200 persons overflowed the usual library meeting place and wound up in the auditorium.

Lee Comeau, business administrator, said an austerity budget would cut $188,377 from the present figure, restrict busing to state-mandated distances, prevent interfund transfers to support a school lunch program, and preclude new library books, capital expenditures, interscholastic athletics, co-curricular activities, and classroom supplies.

Board member Ann Coler

called an austerity budget "a punishment on the children" and asked the board to study the audit available June 30 for possible clues to changes in the new budget. She also noted that the district finished last year with a $200,000 surplus. Comeau said the surplus looks like a large item by itself but is actually only three percent of the budget. "We are predicting 18 months into the future and we are 97 percent accurate," he said.

Barbara Million, president of the Rondout Valley Teachers' Association (RVTA), said the board had a responsibility to provide quality education. "We urge you to honor this commitment by continuing in its entirety the excellent program we now have," she said.

Vernon Gray, a Rochester Town Board member, called for budget cuts "as an alternative to the scare tactics being perpetrated on voters and students by the teachers' association." He said the cafeteria and co-curricular activities could be made self-supporting through admission fees and called for cuts in contracts now under negotiation, substitutes and teacher aides, library books, grounds improvements, summer driving courses, films, lunch funds, and other items he said would trim $341,000 from the budget.

Superintendent Robert Robertaccio, retiring June 30, said that budget increases were always smaller than cost-of-living increases and said additional budget cuts would cut instructional programs.

"What makes you think we haven't sweated over this budget?" he asked. "What are you going to do with the kids — leave them out in the street?"

Board member Kay Wagenvoort said it costs less than $6 per student per day in the district. "I defy you to get a babysitter for 7½ hours a day for that amount," she said, drawing applause.

Board member Charles

Ludlow objected to a letter sent home with children by RVTA, calling on parents to attend the board meeting and to oppose an austerity budget, saying if it happened again he would see the school attorney about methods of stopping it.

"RVTA has the right to say what it wants," he said. "There are legitimate times to send messages home — this was not one of those times."

Mrs. Coler asked Robertaccio to speak to the RVTA executive committee about sending its messages home with students. Robertaccio replied that he had already investigated and that the teachers "intended in good faith to be helpful." He said the board's wishes would be respected.

The board will hold its organizational meeting at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, July 8. Bartle said after the meeting that the tabled austerity budget might come up for discussion then.

'Big MAC Doesn't Carry Big Stick'

"Big MAC doesn't carry a big enough stick," declared State Senator Edwyn E. Mason (R-48th) today in explaining why he voted against the proposal last week in the state legislature.

And Mason predicted that the move to bail out New York City from some $700 million in debts it says it can't pay won't work. "In my judgment it doesn't impose enough restraints and controls on the city of New York and the way the money is being spent," Mason insisted.

MAC is supposed to have a voice in the city's budget making process but Mason has his doubts. "It's a whimper, just a soft voice, not a command," he said.

"New York City has got to stop spending money it doesn't have," Mason asserted, referring to the city's $13 billion debt on which the interest payments alone add up to $1.5 billion per year.

"It's the people who live in the rest of the state with their own community taxes to pay, and families to support who year after year through a variety of give-away programs also have been stuck with much of the bill for the fiscal irresponsibility and mismanagement of this city."

Mason listed five specific recommendations which he could measurably improve New York City's fiscal picture in the near future including:

- Raise the subway fares.

- Charge tuition at the City University of New York.
- End open admissions.
- Stand up to the demands of employee unions for higher

- wages and more fringe benefits.
- Overhaul the administration of the welfare programs.

ROSENDALE

Alarmed over what they call unfair and inequitable tax assessments in the Town of Rosendale, more than 200 taxpayers turned out Tuesday for Grievance Day. Unable to hear more than a nominal number of grievances, the Rosendale Assessment Board of Review will continue its hearings tonight at 6 at the Maple Hill Town Building.

While State Police and deputy sheriffs were reportedly on standby during Tuesday's proceedings, petitions were being circulated by Rosendale Citizens for Fair Assessment calling for a public referendum to determine whether the current method of tax assessment should be changed. It is proposed that the current three elected assessors be replaced by a single, independent assessor, qualified by the State of New York. According to Jack Reynolds, director of the Ulster County Real Property Tax Agency, such an assessment system has worked out well in other communities.

It is the citizen group's intention to have the referendum coupled with either the July recreation complex vote or the September primary in order to avoid additional referendum costs.

They claim that under the one professional assessor system, there will be "a more objective and equal appraisal of property, that the town may receive more funds from the state and that all the real property cards will be filled out by a professional assessor."

Citing present inequities, several taxpayers told of larger homes such as two-story colonials and raised ranches being assessed at 6.7 percent whereas some one-floor ranches are being assessed at eight to 10 percent.

As an example they point to one resident's old stone house on five acres with two barns having a $3,000 assessment whereas one of the aggrieved owns a three-bedroom ranch on a half-acre with a one-car garage and he reportedly has a

Another large home advertised for $93,000 is assessed at $5,300 or only five percent, they claim.

"The people on fixed incomes or pensions are terrified," one of the Citizens for Fair Assessment said today because some have had their assessments double or tripled in the past two years. They are also perturbed, they said, because there have been occasions where new assessments were placed on properties without the assessors having visited the sites.

Edward Connolly of the Rosendale Assessment Board of Review, in a letter to taxpayers said that there is a great deal of confusion and misunderstanding in regard to the updating of the town assessments. He explains that as the total town assessment increases, the tax rate per thousand decreases. He also points out that the higher equalization rate means an increase in state aid and town franchise revenue.

Trio Nabbed on Drug Charges

SAUGERTIES

Three New York City men picked up traveling through Saugerties at about daybreak today are in Ulster County Jail on $10,000 bail each on felony drug and stolen property charges.

Arrested shortly after 5 a.m. today by a routine patrol of town police on Route 9W, Barclay Heights were Robert Gentle, 20; Victor Gillett, 23; and Clarence Evans, 20.

A computer check of their car showed it to be stolen in New York City. The three were arrested for possession of stolen property, first degree. Upon search of the vehicle and the trio, a quantity of what police believe to be heroin was found, as well as hypodermic syringes, leading to additional charges of criminal possession of a dangerous drug, third degree, and possession of a syringe.

An additional charge was lodged against Evans, possession of a dangerous instrument, for a gravity knife reportedly found on him.

Arraigned before Town of Saugerties Justice Robert P. Schirmer, the three were sent to jail on $10,000 bail each with a scheduled court appearance June 25 in Saugerties. Police said the drug charges would have to be disposed of here before extradition to New York on the stolen car charges could be addressed.

Saugerties Town Police recovered another stolen car overnight in the Barclay Heights area, this one apparently taken by a local 14-year-old boy.

At 10:30 p.m., Tuesday they received a report of a car stolen from Simmons Plaza, Route 9W. Ten minutes later, spotting the car, they gave chase and followed the car through the development.

Police arrested the Barclay Heights youth and petitioned him to Family Court, where he appeared this morning.

State and Woodstock police, meanwhile, reported no further progress in the case of a Monday night armed robbery of two elderly sisters in their Wittenberg Road, Woodstock home.

Two masked young white males took property in jewels and stocks valued at about $20,000 from an upstairs safe after tying one woman's hands, and fled the area. Police theorized they escaped with a car at an appointed spot, but roadblocks in four counties failed to net any suspects in the night that followed.

Mrs. Florence Winters and her sister Mrs. Erma Weinstein were not injured by the intruders, described as about 5-10 tall, slender, wearing blue jeans.

A 60-year-old Kingston man was reported in fair condition today.

Carroll Bonnette of 85 Prospect Street suffered leg and hip contusions in the mishap. He was transported to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance Service.

Kingston City Police said Bonnette was struck by a pickup truck in front of the Park Diner on Albany Avenue at about 9:20 p.m. Tuesday. The driver of the vehicle, 43-year-old Anthony P. Woinski of Joys Lane, Hurley, told police that the pedestrian stepped in front of his vehicle, and that he didn't have time to stop.

No summonses were issued.

That opening repartee came as the Woodstock Town Board held its first meeting ever in the St. Joan of Arc Church the town has acquired, and which will be converted into town offices by September 1 or earlier. And at that first meeting in the former church Tuesday night, the problem of the separation of power between church and state surfaced only once—when May noted that two stained glass windows originally donated to the church would be given back to the donors when the town begins renovating the building.

What did surface during the session was the presentation of an award to long-time town clerk, Marjorie Harder, the slating of two public hearings, and an accusation against a local weekly newspaper of "the worst kind of disservice to the Woodstock community" by town justice Kevin Sweeney.

The award to clerk Harder, presented by town justice Rudy Baumgarten, was a Certificate of Appreciation signed by the President of the United States and New York's governor, among others. It cited her "in grateful recognition for 20 years of service to the nation."

Said Mrs. Harder: "I am really very pleased. This makes me very, very happy. It's very nice."

There was repartee on this, too.

SUPERVISOR MAY: "We should have that framed. We'll frame it for you."

CLERK HARDER: "I'll have it framed myself."

JUSTICE SWEENEY: "Put it on his bill."

The board set two public hearings for July 9 at Town Hall. The first at 8 p.m. will consider the adoption of a code for electrical inspection; it is aimed at assuring a "tie-in" between the local zoning enforcement officer and the electrical inspector to assure electrical wiring inspection in the building and construction of single and multiple dwellings. Such a code would require the inspection, recording and meeting of all requirements in electrical work by requiring notification of work being done to the enforcement officer and the checking out of the work by an inspector.

The second hearing at 8:30 p.m. will pertain to cluster development. Supporting such development, within the guidelines of the present Woodstock Zoning Ordinance insofar as it does not change the density factor, are the town's Planning Board, Zoning Board of Appeals, Civic Arts Council, and other interested citizens.

Justice Sweeney asked for a "board review" to consider the "further sanctioning" of the Woodstock Times as an "official newspaper" of the town. The Times now shares that designation with the Ulster County Townsman on a rotating six months basis. Sweeney, noting his distress with a series of articles that have appeared on local businesses and individuals, and to reviews which he feels have "deeply hurt" Woodstock writers, musicians and artists, accused the Times of the "worst kind of yellow journalism," said he could no longer support it as an official town paper. "Its degeneration is an abomination," he said, "that does not speak for Woodstock or represent the best interests of this community."

The board took no action on the matter Tuesday night, but there is every indication it will be discussed again when the designation of an official paper comes up on the regular agenda.

In other business, the board authorized advertisement of bids to paint the exterior of Town Hall; designated Election Day polling places (District 1, Town Hall; 2, Lake Hill Firehouse; 3, Zena Firehouse; 4, Woodstock Firehouse; 5, Bearsville Lodge Hall; 6, Zena Firehouse; 7, town former church) property on Rock City Road; accepted awards for Chief Constable William Watteros and constable Ludwig Baumgarten in police management and police management and community relations work respectively from a recent training program for police officers; approved 16 Democratic election workers; asked for applications from residents interested in serving on the Cable TV Commission to work on extending service in the town and programming on the town channel; and agreed to enter the Concerned Consumers suit against Central Hudson's rate increase as complainant at no expense.

Year-Round School Calendar ...Senate Approves

ALBANY — (UPI) — A 12-month public school curriculum, rejected in the legislature for the past six years, has been approved on an experimental basis by the state senate.

The senate Tuesday night passed the measure which would allow a limited number of school districts to do away with the traditional 10-month school year and offer an 12-month course of study.

Introduced for the seventh consecutive year, the measure was approved 31 to 23. The latest version was agreed to after its chief sponsor sharply limited the scope of the bill.

The sponsor, Sen. Joseph R. Pisani, (R-New Rochelle,) claimed year-round education could save districts as much as 15 percent in operating costs while avoiding the so-called "learning lag" created by lengthy summer vacations.

Under the experimental approach, no more than three of the 700 districts in the state would be allowed to go to a year-round curriculum. The participation would come only after a lengthy series of approvals at the local level and from state education officials.

"All I'm asking is that this be given a chance," Pisani said during debate. "Its time has come."

Opponents had complained the change would disrupt the traditional summer vacations of families and the operations of summer camps.

Under the bill, which faces an uncertain fate in the assembly, a district would have to develop a plan that would need the approval of a local committee of parents and teachers. If 5 percent of the local voters request it, the measure would then be submitted to a referendum vote.

If approved, the commissioner of education would have to grant final go ahead. Due to the experimental status, the commissioner could not grant more than three applications.

Pisani said the year-round system could be set up in a variety of ways, adding there are at least 62 different methods now being used in various parts of the country. One of the more popular approaches would be to have pupils attend classes for 45 days, followed by a 15-day recess.

The Senate also approved a bill that would require landlords to offer a warranty of habitability to residential tenants.

The sponsor, Sen. H. Douglas Barclay, (R-Pulaski,) said the measure would "create parity between tenant and landlord."

Sen. James T. McFarland, (R-Kenmore), charged that "this is another nail in the coffin of free enterprise."

Barclay said the bill requires a landlord to insure that his apartments are suitable to live in.

"A landlord is charged with giving the consumer what he pays for ... the tenant has a right to expect that the ceiling not fall in," Barclay said.

McFarland objected, however, saying "We're driving business out of the state of New York ... and this bill is going to help drive them out farther."

Drugs and Violence 'Common' in Schools

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Drugs and violence are commonplace in public schools, both in the ghettos and the suburbs, according to testimony before a Senate subcommittee.

A panel of four high school students and several teachers testified Tuesday about the prevalence of marijuana, "uppers" and "downers" in their schools, along with knives, chains and handguns.

Identified by first name only, here is some of what the students told the subcommittee on juvenile delinquency.

Debbi, 18, of Akron, Ohio, and Kevin, 17, of Adelphi, Md., said nine of every 10 students get high on drugs during a typical school day.

Robert, a 16-year-old from Chicago, said students are bored by the end of the first period. So, he said, they go outside, "sit around and get high, pop pills and smoke marijuana."

"Anytime you need anything, you just pass the word for something and you'll get it one way or the other," said Kevin. "If you say you need an ounce (of marijuana) at first period, you'll have it by third period."

Robert said the best way to curb violence and drug use in school is by a series of "busts."

Chairman Birch Bayh, (D-Ind.), asked why drug dealers are not reported to authorities by students.

"Almost everybody in the school gets high, so who wants to tell?" answered Debbi.

The panel of teachers said violence in the schools is not confined to ghetto areas but has hit even the most affluent school districts.

Peggy Cochran of Northwest High School in House Springs, Mo., said administrators often "refuse to admit that we have a problem" for fear it will be a "blight against their record."

Other panelists said parents frequently apply pressure to drop charges against their children and fail to give permission for mental health counseling for problem students.

Oriented Toward BOCES

ELLENVILLE

Tim, 17, of Pittsburgh, said teachers should be "with the students instead of against them" and should make their classes more interesting.

Sixth grade classes from Ellenville Central School recently visited the BOCES Vocational-Technical School in Kingston as part of sixth grade orientation to seventh grade.

The tours were planned and organized by guidance personnel from the elementary school and high school. Mrs. Mildred Carson, assistant elementary principal, served as coordinator.

Classes were divided into small groups, each with a BOCES student guide, for a tour of approximately one hour. A student or instructor gave a brief description of programs in session. Students, accompanied by teachers and parents, walked through the facilities, observing students at work and asking questions.

The professional staff has decided that the trip should be an annual event because of its importance in career education for elementary school children.

Partial Dismissal

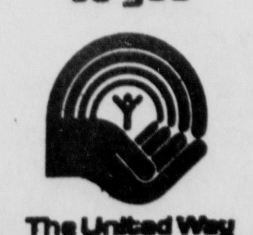

BUFFALO — (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice Joseph Medina today dismissed two felony-murder counts against Bernard Strobe and replaced them with lesser counts, but refused to dismiss a count of common-law murder stemming from the 1971 Attica prison riot.

Strobe and his attorneys appeared pleased by the judge's decision, but Assistant Attorney General Francis Cryan said the court "exceeded its jurisdiction" and asked for a recess to "consider what evidence, if any, I have at this time."

Medina dismissed two indictments against Strobe which charged him with kidnapping in the deaths of inmates Barry Schwartz and Kenneth Hess. He replaced the kidnapping-murder counts with charges of unlawful imprisonment.

He refused to dismiss the common-law murder indictment, charging Strobe with the actual killing of Schwartz.

$6 Billion Payments Balance Gain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. balance of payments made a dramatic $6 billion positive swing between January and March, the largest quarterly shift in history, the Commerce Department announced today.

Sharply improved foreign trade performance, a large decline in American investment dollars flowing overseas and advance payments for U.S. made military arms by several Middle East countries were chiefly responsible for the improvement, the department said.

The so-called "basic" balance was in deficit in the first quarter by a narrow $475 million compared to a $6.6 billion deficit in the previous three months.

The $6.1 billion improvement is unprecedented but a Commerce analyst noted that, in part, it reflected a rebound to a $3 billion decline between the third and fourth quarters of 1974.

The basic balance is considered the most comprehensive of the three balance of payments measures.

It includes trade, services, private investment and government transactions but excludes the short-term international "hot money" flows. However, even the basic balance has lost some of its credibility under the present regime of floating exchange rates.

"None of the balances looked at today give a true picture of U.S. international transactions," a Commerce economist said. "What one really needs to do is look at the various individual transactions."

The United States has traditionally run a deficit in its basic balance, technically known as the balance on current account and long-term capital.

A deficit means that foreigners have acquired more dollars than they have returned to the United States in government and business deals.

The various components of the basic balance in the January-March quarter included a $2.4 billion positive shift in the balance on goods and services to a $3.3 billion surplus.

A steep drop in imports reflecting a reduced demand for foreign-made goods by the sluggish U.S. economy more than offset a $1.2 billion negative shift in net investment income resulting from lower oil industry profits.

Drug Law Is Upheld

Albany — (UPI) — The State Court of Appeals today upheld the constitutionality of mandatory life sentences for serious violation of the state's anti-drug laws.

The high court handed down its unanimous decision upholding lower court rulings involving eight individuals convicted of Class A felony drug offenses. The principal issue decided was that mandatory life imprisonment, a key factor in an anti-drug campaign engineered by former Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller two years ago, did not constitute cruel and unusual punishment in violation of constitutional limitations.

'Plumbers' Appeal To Be Heard Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Richard Nixon's White House "plumbers" say national security justified the 1971 break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Watergate prosecutors say it went far beyond the lawful powers of the executive branch.

A three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals scheduled arguments for today in the plumbers' appeal from their conspiracy conviction in July.

Former White House domestic affairs chief John Ehrlichman, whom Nixon gave over-all authority for the special investigative unit called the "plumbers," is the chief defendant. Others convicted were G. Gordon Liddy, mastermind of the break-in, and Bernard Barker and Eugenio Martinez, who conducted the break-in.

They were convicted of conspiring to violate the civil liberties of Dr. Lewis Fielding, the Beverly Hills psychiatrist analyst who treated Ellsberg about the time he leaked the Pentagon Papers on the Vietnam war.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell ruled prior to the plumbers' trial they could not use national security as a defense. This has become a dominant issue the appeal.

"The presidential power to conduct warrantless searches and seizures in foreign intelligence matters affecting national security has a well established historical precedent," Ehrlichman's lawyers, William Frates and Andrew Hall, of Miami, said in written briefs in March.

"... the President wished to determine what danger existed because of other knowledge Ellsberg had and might divulge with respect to matters affecting national security and particularly U.S. nuclear deterrent targeting systems. "Consequently, the search was both reasonable and justified ..."

In a reply brief six weeks ago, Special Watergate Prosecutor Henry Ruth Jr. said: "... defendant's asserted principle—which would have justified a secret, nighttime, warrantless search of the homes of any number of Ellsberg intimates—is thoroughly inimical to the basic and historical values of the Fourth Amendment."

Ehrlichman, also convicted in the Watergate cover-up, was sentenced to 20 months to five years in prison. He is free pending outcome of his appeals. Liddy, back in jail for the Watergate burglary, was given a concurrent 1-3 year sentence.

Rhinebeck Community Center

RHINEBECK Rhinebeck Community Center, Inc. has increased its original commitment of $150,000 to $170,000 for the Rhinebeck swimming pool to be constructed off Rhinecliff Road.

Thomas J. Wickman, P.E. of Kingston, who designed the Kingston pool now under construction, is to prepare preliminary engineering studies and design for the project in Rhinebeck.

Preliminary studies and estimates were expected to be presented to the town and village boards for approval this month. Town Supervisor William Allen and Village Mayor Peter F. Sipperley have executed the contracts with Wickman.

Taxi?

A Cessna 340 piloted by Samuel Gabour, 35, of Pelham, N.H., leads a string of traffic down the Berkshire section of the New York State Thruway Tuesday. Gabour was permitted to take off from the super highway after making an emergency landing on the road earlier because of a fog at Albany Airport. (UPI)

Mileage Standard Proposed

DETROIT (UPI) — Four auto companies that account for 80 percent of the cars sold in the United States have proposed a set of advertising rules that could end misleading or deceptive fuel economy claims.

The proposal to the Federal Trade Commission Tuesday was made jointly by General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and Volkswagen. They asked the FTC to adopt the new rules as soon as possible so 1976-model advertising that begins in two months will be more informative to car buyers.

While not formally joining the filing, attorneys for Toyota and Nissan (Datsun) indicated they agree with the proposed guidelines and will conform if adopted by the FTC.

Key element in the industry proposal is the use of both city and highway mileage-per-gallon test results. The Environmental Protection Agency obtains in its emission certification tests. Most fuel economy advertising now contains just the higher highway figure.

VW began the latest round in the miles-per-gallon war with its flaunting of the 38 mpg the EPA says the minicar can get on the highway. With gasoline prices climbing and imports gaining a record one of every five sales this year, the domestic makers countered with fuel-slinging autos of their own.

GM is now advertising a Vega that can get 37 mpg on the highway and Ford last week began selling its three MPG cars—Pinto, Bobcat and Mustang II—with highway fuel economy of 34 mpg.

Under the new proposal, those claims would have to be balanced with the city cycle tests. VW would add the 24 mpg its Rabbit gets in the city while Ford and GM could claim 23 mpg for their models.

The FTC had hoped to set a fuel economy standard for the current model year, but there was so much disagreement in the industry on fuel economy test procedures that it scrapped the idea until the 1976 model year.

Obituaries

Slater

Guernsey Slater of Kerhonkson died at Ellenville June 17 after a long illness. He was born Aug. 22, 1898 at the Town of Rochester, a son of the late Ira and Cora Birchell Slater and was married to the former Grace Hover. Mr. Slater was a plumber by trade and worked for the Terwilliger Brothers of Kerhonkson for many years. He was a member of Kerhonkson Fire Company and a life member of the Roundout Rod and Gun Club. In addition to his wife he is survived by two daughters: Mrs. Donald (Genevieve) Sahler of Kerhonkson, Mrs. Merlin (Carol) Olson of Kansas City, Kansas; a brother, Clarence Slater of Accord; five grandchildren, three great grandchildren, several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held Friday at 1 p.m. at the H.B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson. Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday 2-4 and 7-9. Burial will be in the Tongore Cemetery, Olivebridge. Memorial donations may be made to the Kerhonkson-Accord First Aid Squad.

Schirmer

Interment for W. Olin Schirmer who died in Philadelphia, Pa., last October will take place Saturday, 10 a.m. at the Oliverea Cemetery. Mr. Schirmer had been a long time resident of the Big Indian-Oliverea Valley. He is survived by his wife, Evelyn, of Collingswood, N.J.; two sons: Lee Schirmer of Shokan, Robert O. Schirmer of Nebraska; a brother, Robert H. Schirmer of Millbrook; six grandchildren, a great grandchild, several nieces and nephews.

Hull

Conrad J. Hull, 82, of 120 Wilbur Avenue, died Tuesday afternoon at the Albany Medical Center. Mr. Hull had been employed by Electrol Inc., as a machinist until his retirement several years ago. Born Feb. 22, 1893 at Kingston he was a son of the late John and Mary Freer Hull. Mr. Hull is survived by his wife, Cyrella Snyder Hull; three sons: Kenneth Hull of Kingston, Raymond Hull of Sawkill, Paul Hull of Kingston; two daughters: Mrs. Betty Fabiano of Woodstock, Mrs. Beverly Suski of Kingston; a brother, Sidney Hull of Kingston; 11 grandchildren, four great grandchildren. Entrusted to the care of the W.N. Connor Funeral Home, services will be held at the Keyser Kingston Chapel, Albany and Manor Avenues, Friday 11 a.m. The Rev. Norman Blossat, minister of the First Baptist Church will officiate. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery. Friends may call at the Keyser Kingston Chapel Thursday 2-4 and 7-9.

Arnold

Mrs. Geraldine Baldwin Arnold, 79, of 42 Whitney Drive, Woodstock, mother of the Rev. David W. Arnold, rector of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Woodstock, died this morning following an extended illness. She was born in Batavia, Jan. 29, 1896, the daughter of the late Charles and Martha Johnson Baldwin and had resided in Woodstock for the past seven years. She had formerly lived in White Plains. Mrs. Arnold was a graduate of William Smith College and attended SUNY at Cortland. She was a teacher in the White Plains School System for a number of years. Mrs. Arnold was a charter member of St. Bartholomew's Church of White Plains. Surviving in addition to her son are a daughter, Mrs. Douglas (Nancy) Mehne of Westbury, R.I. and six grandchildren. The burial office and Requiem Mass will be held Thursday at 1 p.m. at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Woodstock. Burial will be in White Plains Rural Cemetery. The family will receive their friends at the church Wednesday from 7-9 p.m. Memorial contributions to St. Gregory's Church will be appreciated.

Medicaid Diversion Brings Indictment

BUFFALO — (UPI) — Frank F. Tripi Jr., operator of a Buffalo nursing home, and his two sons have been named in a five-count federal indictment accusing them of diverting "more than $100,000" in federal Medicaid payments for their own use and members of their families.

Tripi was also named in an Erie County grand jury indictment on several charges stemming from the operation of the Delaware Avenue Nursing Home, Inc.

Charles J. Hynes, the state's special nursing home prosecutor, said action will be taken to close the home.

The charges were announced during a Tuesday news conference by U.S. Attorney Richard J. Arcara, who said the federal indictments of Tripi and his sons, Dennis and Robert, allege 23 "overt acts" on charges of conspiring to defraud the government of Medicaid funds, making kickbacks and falsifying records.

The five-count, 18-page federal indictment accuses the three of "conspiracy to divert to their own use and the use of members of their families, moneys paid and made available to them for the use and care of needy, aged and disabled persons" under federal Medicaid laws.

Arcara said the indictment "involves amounts in excess of $100,000."

The U.S. Attorney said the three are also the first persons ever charged under a federal statute outlawing kickbacks from Medicaid funds.

Arcara said the Tripi's will be arraigned on the federal charges before U.S. Magistrate Edmund F. Maxwell next Tuesday.

Hynes said State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz will initiate a civil suit to dissolve the corporation which operates the nursing home and place it under receivership.

He said the state charges against Tripi include second-degree grand larceny and offering a false instrument for filing.

Tripi is accused of extorting money from the children of nursing home patients to insure that the patients were not moved into an older wing of the facility. He is also accused of obstructing a state public health survey team attempting to inspect the home March 19.

In addition, Hynes said the state indictments accuse Tripi of violating the "non-arms length" state law which prohibits nursing home operators from making purchases from companies in which they have financial interest without first disclosing the fact.

The nursing home is at 1205 Delaware Ave.

Traveling Librarian

SAUGERTIES

Phyllis Cade, the new librarian with the Saugerties Public Library, could probably write a book herself about her extensive life of travel around the United States.

She has lived, and worked, in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Kentucky, Mississippi, Texas, Long Island, Missouri, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, and Hudson and Saugerties.

She received her B.S. and B.A. degrees from Southwest Missouri State University, received her masters degree in library science last year from Long Island University, and in between devoted 10 years to acquiring practical library experience and raising four children with her husband Warren.

Mrs. Cade most recently was employed as head librarian of the Hudson Area Association Library upriver in Hudson. She has extended a cordial invitation to all to visit the library, the only such public resource in the town, and to call on her for any special library needs.

Memorial
In loving memory of our brother, Robert D. Marks, who passed away four years ago, June 18, 1971. They say time heals all sorrow And helps us forget But time has only proven How much we miss you yet. God gave us courage to face it And strength to heal the blow, But what if meant to lose you, Bob. No one will ever know. Sadly missed,

Your Astrograph

For Thursday, June 19, 1975
 ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're likely to be too possessive and demanding of a loved one today. It could cause a rift difficult to heal.
 TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Tie a string around your finger to remember to do something today that you've promised.

your mate. She's counting on you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're still not in full gear with your productivity. Stop looking for excuses. Get down to work.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This evening you'll let your guard down a bit where social disciplines are concerned. You could overindulge in some manner.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you want to keep peace at home today, set your crown aside. Pitch in like all the rest. Being a straw boss won't win points.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be complimentary today to one who really deserves it. Though you feel she never pats you on the back when you've done something noteworthy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A friend who always borrows things but is slow returning them will have her hand out again today. Try to say "no" diplomatically.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A friend who promised you a favor will have to back off. Don't be angry. She'll be as disappointed as you are.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Keep all your dealings out in the open today. If you try to do something coy, no matter how harmless, you'll get caught.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Watch out for a friend today who tells tales behind people's backs. She could involve you in an intrigue you're better off without.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't take sole credit today for something another had a hand in bringing about. There's room in the spotlight for both parties.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It would be unwise to look to a person who has proved to be unreliable to bail you out of a problem. Find a new source.

Opening lead — J ♥

By Oswald & James Jacoby

A trapper cuts a fine figure in the North woods. He is a miserable object at the bridge table.

North's opening bid was quite sound although in the minimum range and the spade response certainly didn't hurt it any. North might well have made the slightly optimistic jump to three spades, but he decided to make the conservative bid of just two.

This bid should have conveyed the message, "Place the contract if you can do so. If you want any further bid or bids from me you can invite game or slam and I will take action."

In response to that message, South jumped to four spades. As far as South knew he had placed the contract at game. However, North revalued his hand and decided to make one more bid. He cue bid hearts!

South had been trapped. He wanted no part of a slam and merely returned to five spades. North passed this and it was up to South to try to make 11 tricks instead of just 10.

Actually, six might make. Just place king and one spade in the East hand. Furthermore, five was a pretty good contract. It only went down because West was sitting in back of South with the king-jack and another trump.

This was unfortunate indeed, but it didn't make either North or South any happier.

South had been trapped. He wanted no part of a slam and merely returned to five spades. North passed this and it was up to South to try to make 11 tricks instead of just 10.

Actually, six might make. Just place king and one spade in the East hand.

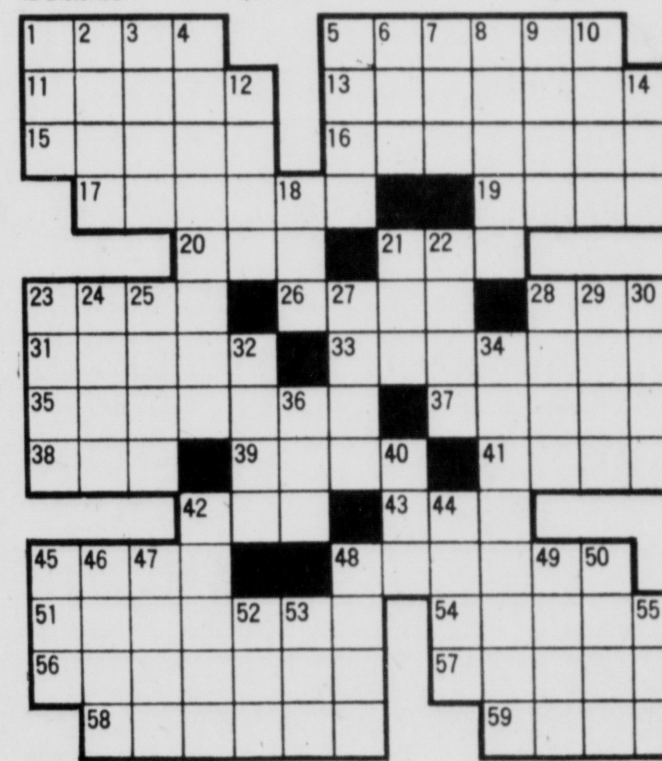

Furthermore, five was a pretty good contract. It only went down because West was sitting in back of South with the king-jack and another trump.

This was unfortunate indeed, but it didn't make either North or South any happier.

Addressing Congress

West German President Walter Scheel addresses a joint session of Congress in the House of Representatives. On rostrum behind him are Vice President Nelson Rockefeller (L) and House Speaker Carl Albert. Scheel said recent world events have strengthened rather than weakened U.S. ties with Europe. (UPI)

Communists Concern Scheel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — West German President Walter Scheel ended his visit to Washington on a note of concern about the growing influence of communism in Europe.

In a speech to Congress Tuesday, Scheel said Western democracies must sharpen their social consciences to deal with long-term problems of food, resources and employment or see Communist ideologies take hold.

Later he talked with reporters about the Communist gains in Italy's regional elections this week.

"I think it's too early for final analysis of the elections, but we are concerned about the results," Scheel said. "It seems that for the time being the Communist party gets stronger and the middle parties lose votes. For a democracy, never is it good to have a weak middle-party."

The last official event on Scheel's Washington schedule — he was the first West German president to visit the capital in 17 years — was a reception at a downtown hotel Tuesday night.

He was scheduled to leave today for trips to Chicago and New York before leaving for home Friday.

In his half-hour address to Congress, Scheel warned of the danger of losing ground to communism.

also wanted to be briefed on the results of last week's talks between Ford and Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin.

U.S. Ambassador to Egypt Hermann F. Eilts was expected to return from Washington next week and report to Sadat on both subjects.

Rabin, who returned to Israel Monday from talks with Ford and Kissinger, briefed the cabinet on his five-day visit to the United States.

A communique on the cabinet meeting said "the government of Israel will be prepared to review its position consonant with changes that may occur in the Egyptian position."

The Israeli cabinet decided at a 5 1/2 hour debate in Jerusalem Tuesday "to pursue the negotiations aimed at reaching agreement on the subject of an interim agreement with Egypt."

The Cairo officials said Egypt will not make a final decision on whether to go along with new peace efforts until the United States finishes its Middle East policy reassessment.

Mariana Islands to Be Acquired by U.S.

SAIPAN, Mariana Islands (UPI) — The people of the northern Mariana Islands have voted overwhelmingly to become American citizens and turn the Pacific archipelago into a U.S. commonwealth.

The islands, which stretch for 500 miles across the western Pacific, would be the first new territory acquired by the United States in half a century.

Still incomplete returns in Tuesday's plebiscite indicated more than three-quarters of the voters favored political union with the United States.

U.N. observers spent two weeks in the northern Marianas to oversee voting on the future of the 16,000 persons living in the chain of 14 islands.

The United States has administered the islands since 1948 as part of the United Nations Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, also known as Micronesia.

The plebiscite endorsed an agreement signed in February by U.S. and northern Mariana officials. The accord goes before Congress in September for ratification.

The islands, used by American planes for the World War II atomic bombings of Japan, would have a commonwealth political status similar to Puerto Rico's.

Under the pact, which had to be ratified by 55 per cent of the archipelago's voters, the northern Marianas would sell the United States land for military bases.

The islanders have been asking for American citizenship for a quarter-century, endorsing union with the United States in two previous plebiscites.

But it wasn't until three years ago that the United States agreed to begin talks aimed at separating the northern Marianas from the rest of Micronesia.

The commonwealth agreement provides for the breakup of the Marianas district, one of six districts in the Pacific Trust Territory.

Under the pact, the five northern Mariana lawmakers in the Pacific Trust Territory's legislature would give up their seats.

"The commonwealth status is good for the people and I will happily give up my seat for the benefit of the people," said Sen. Olympio Borja, mentioned as a likely candidate for chief executive of the new territory.

The new commonwealth, to be made up of all the Marianas north of Guam, would include Saipan, the capital, and Tinian, the island used to launch the 1945 atomic bombings of Japan. The northern Marianas would be the first U.S. territorial acquisition since the purchase of the Virgin Islands from Denmark in 1917 and the annexation of Swains Island near American Samoa in 1925.

The CIA and Assassinations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — CIA Director William Colby has disclosed that his predecessor, Richard Helms, issued a specific directive in 1972 — 25 years after the agency was created — banning any assassination proposal or operation.

But Colby stopped short of confirming current allegations the CIA may have been involved in some past assassination plot and urged public discussion of the issue be muted.

Colby's disclosure came in testimony he prepared for delivery June 12 to the House Select Intelligence Committee but which he never gave because of the resignation of chairman Rep. Lucien Nedzi, D-Mich., and the resultant committee leadership crisis.

The substance of Colby's presentation was obtained by UPI.

Colby intended to assure the House Committee he welcomed current congressional investigations into the CIA, but felt the subject of assassination should be discussed in closed session.

The CIA director was going to argue that since assassination was explicitly banned in 1972, discussing the past would prove to be more sensational than valuable and would do no service to U.S. policy.

The Rockefeller Commission made whatever evidence it uncovered on the subject of alleged assassination plots available to President Ford and the Senate Intelligence Committee on a secret basis.

Subsequently, Vice President Rockefeller implied in a television interview that the late President John Kennedy and late Attorney General Robert Kennedy may have been involved in a CIA assassination proposal.

A spokesman for the Senate Intelligence Committee said the panel has asked the White House to turn over National Security Council minutes between 1959 and 1963 which are reported to have referred to assassination plots.

The committee is summoning Colby Friday to testify in closed session about the U.S. Operation Phoenix in Vietnam, which was aimed at eliminating Viet Cong organizations and which may have involved several or even wholesale assassinations during the Indochina conflict.

Election Surprise In Italy

ROME (UPI) — The Communist party, buoyed by stunning election gains, has stepped up demands for a major role in the Christian Democratic-led government.

"Our strength has grown to the point of making practically impossible any government solution that tries to refuse a Communist contribution," party leader Enrico Berlinguer told thousands of cheering supporters Tuesday.

The crowd outside St. John's Basilica chanted "En-ri-co, En-ri-co," waved hammer and sickle flags and released red balloons into the sky.

Thousands of cheering Communists paraded through the streets Tuesday, waving red flags and giving clenched fist salutes to celebrate their advances in the voting earlier this week.

Police outside a Christian Democratic party office used tear gas to disperse a stone-throwing crowd carrying a coffin bearing the Christian Democratic emblem.

The stock market panicked in reaction to the elections, which saw the Communists gain 2.5 million votes and come within two percentage points of the Christian Democrats.

Quotations in Milan fell an average of eight per cent, with some stocks suffering losses of up to 31 per cent on one of the darkest trading days in 20 years.

Israel, Egypt In Agreement

By UPI

Israel and Egypt have agreed in principle to resume negotiations on an interim Middle East peace settlement, giving new life to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's shuttle diplomacy.

Egyptian officials said today a revival of the American initiative was one of the acceptable alternatives discussed by President Anwar Sadat and President Ford at their meeting early this month.

The Israeli cabinet decided at a 5 1/2 hour debate in Jerusalem Tuesday "to pursue the negotiations aimed at reaching agreement on the subject of an interim agreement with Egypt."

The Cairo officials said Egypt will not make a final decision on whether to go along with new peace efforts until the United States finishes its Middle East policy reassessment.
